Rocky Clark's TELE-NEWS

In presenting a new series of 13 half-hour programs, "It's Up to You", starting Saturday at 5:30 p.m., CBS-TV is tackling the problem of how to attract a mass audience to an educational program. The series, presented in cooperation with the Red Cross, is designed to teach the fundamentals of first aid for use in case of a bombing attack or any other emergency.

With the help of film clips, producer Sig Mickelson plans to show "what might happen to you and your family in the event of a bombing, a chemical or germ attack, then proceed into live demonstrations by Red Cross volunteers of the various first aid techniques everyone should know.

"To make each program even more interesting," he adds, "we'll use a well-known personality to introduce and narrate parts of it. The person, for our first program, will be Miss Joan Bennett."

MAILMEN ON TV
