Let's Explore Your Mind

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

© 1951 by John & Dife Co. YOUR OPINION Answer to Question No. 1 What little evidence we have what little evidence we have indicate yes. We know that little girls learn to talk earlier than little boys and that they talk more as a rule. Psychologists who listened in on talkfests of both men and women students noted that women indulged more in gosspy chatter about clothes and love than did men. Maybe women discuss trivial details be-cause they can't think of any-thing important to say about men. I wouldn't know. Answer to Question No. 2 Psychologist George H. Smith found that high school seniors with small vocabularies were more favorable toward labor unions and government guaran-tees of employment, etc. and less favorable toward civil rights and free speech than those with large vocabularies. Our booklet, "How to Increase Your Word Power, Think Better, Spell Perfectly, with Vocabulary Test," may change your outlook. Sent at cost 15c (coin only) plus selfaddressed, stamped envelope.

Answer to Question No. 3

They want both, Human nature is a strange mixture. Men like climbing mountains, hunt-ling lions, high diving and looping the loop, but they also like to feel they have a secure home somewhere. Psychologists tell us that children like the comics largely because they get the thrill of jumping off high places, flying to the moon and captur-ing the bandit while safe at
