inswer to Question No. 1

Apparently, yes. Psychologist Lowell Kelly had engaged ersons rate their own and their mates' personality. In addition, friends rated their resemblance to each other. The engaged coules rated themselves more alike in personality than their friends rated them. That is, they berated them. That is, they be-lieved—at least during the en-gagement period — that they were more nearly alike than they actually were. Let us hope he belief continued!

Answer to Question No. 2 When I was lad, medical education meant that a boy took care of "Old Doc" Jones' horses and read Gray's Anatomy. Then he spent six months "studyin' medicine" in a nearby city medical college. One Doc had his patients drink out of rusty tin cups "to supply their blood with iron." My mother followed this advice for years and died at 96

KTLA (5)-Final Edition Korean Puts War, Loss at Three Millions

NEW YORK, June 18. 4P; Korea's ambassador to the U, S, says war has taken a toll of 3,000,000 Koreans and made another 10,000,000 homeless. Dr. You Chan Yang says millions "have lost everything they owned—their homes, their posowned—their nomes, their pos-sessions, their supplies of food, everything but the clothing they are actually wearing."

his country, gave the figures yes-terday in a statement accepting the honorary chairmanship of American Relief for Korea, Inc., private organization clothing and other supplies for shipment to Korea.
