We are becoming a bit weary of people singing duets, trios and quartets with themselves. It was a cute novelty when Patti Page employed that recording trick to make a hit of Tennessee Waltz", but now it seems everybody wants to get into the act. Latest example is an RCA-Victor recording of a sappy love song, "Do You Really Love Me?", sung by a trio comprising Tony Martin, Tony Martin and Tony Martin.

Mr. Martin, who usually does nicely as a soloist, redeems himself on the other side of the disc by soloing "Tell Me", a pleasant Boogie." Better watch out, you Andrews girls!

Mindy Carson 'tries to go Patti Page one better by singing two duets with herself and then calling in a choral group to help out on her RCA-Victor coupling of "Lonely Little Robin" and "You Only Want Me When You're Lonesome." The "Robin" side isn't bad, though The other drags.

MGM comes up with a new voeal team. Johnny Desmond and Monica Lewis, who work well together on "Out o' Breath" and "I'm Glad I Gave It Up for You." . . Glad I Gave It Up for You."

That Eckstine fellow has a new MGM winner in "Pandora" and "Wonder Why."

His female counterpart, Sarah Vaughan, on a Columbia disc, revives "My Rever-ie" and introduces a tuneful new ballad, "Vanity," . . . Marigan, of "Stop the Music" Marion Mor does a cute job on "Lonely Little Robin" on an MGM coupling with Russ Columbo's evergreen. "So This Is Paradise." . . . Doris Day gives "Shanghai" her usual competent attention on Columbia, with "My Life's Desire" on the back. Jo Stafford gets back into her hillbilly groove with her Columbia waxing of "Allentown Jail" which is paired with "Somebody." Fran Warren is too, too cute in her RCA-Victor waxing of "January, February" and the schmalzy plattermate, "Any Time At All", which has a neat trumpet passage, probably by Bobby Hackett. . Tani Arden, who improves on her every Columbia disc. comes forth an inspired performance of "Wonder Why" coupled with "Dark Is the Night." On another disc, she introduces a catchy novelty, "If You Turn Me Down", paired with Tou Turn Me Down", paired with a "Invitation to a Broken Heart."

Don Cornell lends his romantic baritone pipes to "If I Had Another Chance" and "Why Don't You Tell Me So" on a likely RCA-Victor big-seller. The Fontane Victor big-seller. . . The Fontane PARK ON Sisters, also on the RCA label, offer
