Adventures of Kit Carson Starts on KECA Monday

A new series of half-hour television thrillers, "The Adventures of Kit Carson," presenting film recreations of historic and exciting stories of the Old West, makes its debut Monday at 7:30 p. m., over KECA-TV channel 7.

Bill Williams, popular cowboy star of the Hollywood film colony, plays the dashing title role of the American frontier hero, with Don Diamond, also well known to movie and TV fans, supporting Williams in the comedy role of "El Toro." Kit Carson's Mexican pal.

Produced exclusively for television audiences, the Kit Carson series is being filmed at the Eagle-Lion studios in Hollywood and at various rugged outdoor location sites, where effort is made to recreate the frontier flavor of the days a century ago when Carson fought his historic battles with hostile Indians and bandits.

"Kit Carson exemplified the kind of spirit and courage which has carried this country over some pretty rough periods in the past," commented Williams, "and I can't think of a better time than now, when we're facing equally dangerous problems of another kind, to draw on our history for inspiration. This is a good time to glorify our heroes."

This is one western series, Williams added, which parents should encourage the kids to watch—and which should be an event for the entire family to enjoy together each week.

Mussolini's Body Reported Put in Wall of Monastery

ROME, Oct. 13. (AP) The big Milan news magazine Tempo (Time) said today the body of Benito Mussolini, recovered from grave-robbers five years ago, now is buried in the wall of a 14th Century Pavia monastery.

The government maintained silence on the report, but it made big headlines in Italian newspapers. The Fascist leader's body has been a pawn of politics since he was shot down by partisans while trying to flee to Germany in 1945, and hacked and hanged by the heels from a lamp post in Milan's Piazale Loreto. His mistress' body similarly was handled.

The government has sought to keep his body from becoming a shrine for any reborn fascism and has kept his present burial place a secret.

Tempo's report came at the end of a week in which 32 Italians stood before a crowded Rome court on charges of setting up a new Fascist organization and dynamiting government buildings and embassies in the capital. Some prisoners are former members of a new Fascist party that showed some gains in the last Italian elections.

Recent reports that the government intended soon to return Mussolini's body to his family were denied bitterly less than a month ago by Edda Ciano, his daughter. She said: "We do not even know where his poor bones lie. The government which calls itself Christian (the Christian Democrats)... is afraid that if his burial place were known my father's grave would be covered with too many flowers."

Pomona Arabians Show Tomorrow

POMONA, Oct. 13. Sunday will be the opening of the 1951-52 series of Arabian horse shows held at the Kellogg campus of the California State Polytechnic College, Pomona.

The hour-long shows, held each Sunday at 2 and 3:30 p. m., throughout the school year, drew 40,000 visitors to the 800-acre ranch campus last year. This year is the silver anniversary of the founding of the Arabian horse breeding farm by the late W. K. Kellogg of Battle Creek, Mich. Since the first show was given 25 years ago, it is estimated that more than 3 million visitors have witnessed the event.

Several new acts have been added to the show to illustrate the versatility and capability of the Arabian horse.

Of special interest to families intending to take lunches to be eaten in the campus rose garden and picnic area, is the addition of the bird sanctuary and deer run. Several varieties of pheasants, peacocks, ducks and other game birds are now on display.

POLITICAL NEWS

Rep. Martin of Iowa Speaks Here Oct. 24

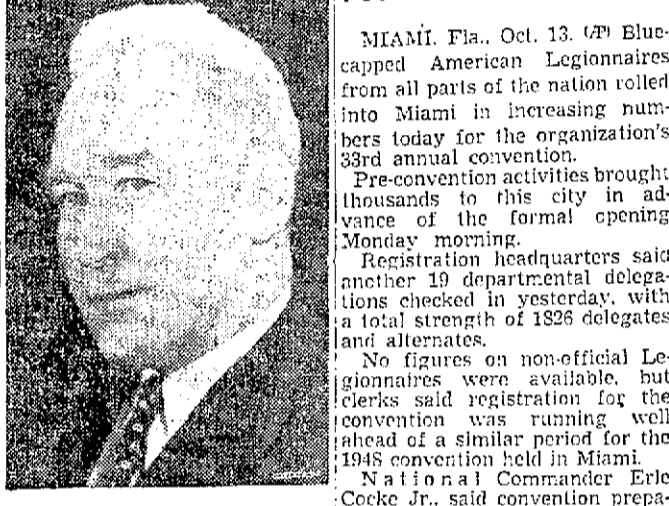

By THE LOOKOUT The Republicans have a Congressman coming to make a major speech, the Democrats are awaiting the return of Rep. Clyde Doyle in November to see for sure what cooks on their side of the Congressional race, and politics here are heading for an active stage preliminary to the fireworks of the 1952 campaign.

Congressman Thomas E. Martin of Iowa will come Oct. 24 as the guest of the local Republican Central Committee and will deliver a public speech in the Concert Hall, Municipal Auditorium, that evening.

Martin has represented Iowa's First District for 13 years and is a member of the potent ways and means committee. He's a former sales analyst for Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., a graduate of Iowa State University, and a lawyer. Capt. Willis Bradley and Ward Johnson, Long Beach men who served in Congress with Thomas, are active in planning for his visit, and Johnson will introduce him at the Concert Hall speech-making.

Capt. Bradley, chairman of the 18th District Republican Central Committee, said Martin would be guest at the usual small lunch given by the Harbor Commission for visiting members of Congress. The visitor will inspect the harbor area, and Wilton Hotel at which he will be presented by former Gov. Frank Merriam. Young Republicans will join in the reception.

Mrs. Martin will be entertained at dinner at the Wilton under auspices of the Long Beach Council of Republican Women, according to Mrs. Gladys O'Donoghue.

TO SPEAK HERE—Rep. Thomas E. Martin, Iowa Republican, who will speak here Oct. 24.

John, president of the council, Mrs. Jennie Pritchard, president of the North Long Beach council, is in charge of arrangements.

Democratic friends of Rep. Clyde Doyle say the latest word is that he hopes to be back in Long Beach about Nov. 10, and then will shape his plans for the 1952 political situation.

Doyle is generally expected to make the race for Congress in the 18th District, although there has been some talk he might run in the 23rd District, to the north. There seems to be little question that Doyle will be running for Congress again.

Atty. Gen. Hosmer, Assemblyman W. S. Grant and City Prosecutor Kenneth Sutherland continue as major possibilities as Republican Congressional candidates. Among these, Sutherland has been the most positive, stating it is his "present intention" to run. But Grant and Hosmer are equally strong possibilities.

On the other hand, it seems unlikely all three would be in the Republican primary. Under the cross-filing system, there would be a danger of dividing the Republican vote so badly that a Democrat—presumably Doyle—might get enough Republican

Names of Dead GIs Used in Fraud Plot

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 13. (AP) A three-year prison sentence and a stinging rebuke from a federal judge have been given to a St. Joseph, Mo., man who pleaded guilty to using the names of dead soldiers to defraud. His scheme involved parents of servicemen killed in Korea.

Sentenced was William Charles Hollingsworth, 28. Sam O. Hargus, assistant U. S. attorney, said the scheme worked like this: Hollingsworth bought copies of Chicago and Omaha newspapers from St. Joseph. From the newspapers he obtained the names of men killed in the Far East and the names and addresses of their parents.

He wrote to the soldiers, in care of their parents, asking for money purportedly loaned to the servicemen. The letter that brought Hollingsworth's arrest was addressed to John T. Green, Chicago. "Dear Johnny," the letter read, "I've just got a 10-day leave and I'm a little hard up. Could you let me have the $100 I loaned you?"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. (AP) The House will vote Monday on a bill to impose a temporary three-cent-a-pound duty on fresh tuna. The bill was introduced by Chairman A. Meanwhile, the Tariff Commission and the Secretary of the Interior would be directed to make a study of the effect of the imports on domestic markets.
