Wives Are Experts About Their Men By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK. (AP) The thing , a woman wants least from any thority. man is his advice on how she should treat her husband. Discovering this odd trait of feminine psychology has put me in Dutch with a lot of lady readers. A woman will go to a man today to design her a dress or a new hair do. She will ask his advice about the best stocks and bonds to invest her cash in. She will welcome—or at least listen to—male views on any subject in the world from how pretty she is to what a grace-ful carriage she has.

But let a poor hapless out-side man tell her how to treat the guy in her life—and she bares her fangs in a storm of vowels and consonants. On the subject of how to handle her own chunk of manly real estate

ly. The mistake lay in writing an article on "How to Spoil a Husband." My thesis was that a lot of American wives wanted to spoil their husbands, but had forgotten how. I undertook to tell them-but never again. In the course of my little essay I made the remark that a wife might greet her husband with his houseslippers in her teeth when he came home after a hard day over his hot desk at the office.

That waggish observation has landed me in the doghouse. For one thing, my own Ozark bride, Frances, happened to read the article. "What you don't know about women, Rover, would fill an. emptier head than yours," she began-and went on from there. It turned out to be a one-way conversation. Her way. Then the letters began to come in. The ladies across the land wanted to know whether I thought they ought to wear dog collars, too. (Editor Note: Well, they're cheaper than mink scarfs.) (Boyle's Note: Look, you better stay out of this-or you're going to be in the soup also.) Many a wife also took just as much umbrage about my innocent sugestion that she per-form for her husband once in a while some of the small courtesies he usually performs for her--such as lighting up his cigaret for him. "My husband will crash through 40 people at a cocktail party to strike a match for a blonde across the room," one said. "But at home if I stood there with an unlighted cigaret in my mouth he wouldn't notice it if he were wearing a microscope. "If I ever light his cigaret for him—well it'll be with a blowtorch."

And another wife wrote: "We will gladly greet our husbands with his slippers dangling from our mouths, if we are allowed to carry our dog manners a trifle further when he becomes slightly unreasonable. "But what makes you think that momma has been sipping tea out of a golden cup ever since he left?"

She said that what threat-ened to drive most young mothers to drink was this: To spend a herculean day mop-ping, dusting, washing, ironing, and cooking-and then to have friend husband greet her at eventide thusly:

"Hello, dear wife, why do you look so tired?" Her letter continued:

"And you say that we ought to get our own coats out of the closet and put them on all by ourselves, for a change, on the
