Director at KNBH Thinks He'll Stick to Directing

Recently Tom Danson, Press-Telegram Tee-Vee columnist, and two other scribes directed television shows on a dare from regular directors. Today Trent Christman, KNBH director, tries his hand at writing a column to get even.—Editor's Note.

By TRENT CHRISTMAN

Okay, Danson, you tried my racket. Now I'll try yours. Of course it's ridiculous to compare the two jobs. Heck, anybody can write a daily column. It's easy—plenty of nice clean paper and a typewriter and suddenly a guy is a columnist.

So, I've stolen the paper from the desk of that cute girl at the third desk here at KNBH and borrowed a typewriter from one of our more literate directors who once won third prize in his junior high school composition contest and fancied himself a writer.

Obviously the first step in this new racket — and let's face it, it is a racket — is to find something to write about. That should be easy in spite of your snide attitude in not telling me what to use as a subject for this junior grade epic. I'll admit that I didn't give you any help either when you directed the show here at KNBH, but after all, I've got a good racket, too, and if I go around explaining it to people someone is bound to get wise to me.

All you told me was not to keep mentioning KNBH. I understand you not wanting me to mention KNBH but after all KNBH is where I earn my bread and margarine. But this is your column so I won't mention KNBH.

Now, to get back to the subject of this piece. What was the subject, by the way? Oh, yes. I

2. DOES PROPAGANDA GIVE AN ACCURATE PICTURE OF US? YES NO

Answer to Question No. 1
Yes, of one kind. We have "serial, instead of simultaneous polygamy." Men and women who have four or five mates in rapid succession can hardly be said to be monogamous.

Answer to Question No. 2
No. In reference to the United States, Russians broadcast the story of a dog whose mistress bequeathed it $75,000.000. The dog slept on a golden bed, attended by 45 servants and six lawyers. They said (abridged) New York streets are full of children in tatters, begging at the doors of the rich and searching in the rubbish for food.

Answer to Question No. 3
No. Heredity is not handed down by tails or bodies of animals, but by germ cells. The germ cells are separate from the
