Cheer Up, Friend, It Isn't Intolerable

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK. (4P) Life sometimes exasperates people so much they exclaim impulsively, "I almost wish I were dead!" Against such rainy days they should write down a list of all the things they really would miss if they were out of this Then, when they felt bad, they could pull out their own catalogue of personal pleasures, read it over—and feel better.

A few things would be on every person's list, but each would have some items that would be the private fruits of his own lifetime. Here's one man's tentative index:

The relief of taking off a pair of tight shoes after a long hard day. . The pleasure of scratching. . The ecstasy of spring and autumn. . The poetry of Emily Dickinson and the soaring prose of perfume and corset ads in lady fashion magazines.

Seeing the Empire State Building on a misty day... The smell of fog, new leather, old clothes and shoe polish... The sound of a wife's surprised laughter, children's voices, the thump of a dog's thill the following the state of the state tail... The feel of a fresh wind, summer rain, and the soft patsummer rain, and the soft patina of century-old cherry-wood dining table. . . The glint of candlelight on polished bronze and antique silver. . . . The memory of vanished friends and vanished days. . . The wonderful windows of the control of the Fifth Ave. . . Green Christmas trees, white hillsides, blue formal gowns, and a glass of amber beer on a hot day. . . The scandal of a cockroach in some-body else's kitchen. . .

A letter from my mother, full of the phrases that bring back home and childhood. . . An envelope from the Bureau of Internal Revenue, saying I overpaid my taxes (you can dream can't you?), . . Comic strips and murder mystery books... The splendor of cathedrals and the quiet of lonely country churches. . . The benison of steaming bean soup on a cold day. . . Spelling the name of the one you love in winter snow with a twig. The taste of sweat after chopping up logs. . . The shock of a cold needle shower. . . The languor of a fireplace. . . The cleanliness of new sheets. . . Counting all the faces you can find in a full yellow moon. . . Helping a small child catch fireflies on a summer nght...

Watching Notre Dame win a football game in the last quarter. . Or Joe DiMaggio knock a home run. . Driving again through the poppy fields of Tunisia, the hills of Italy at peace, or the lanes of Normandy.

Telling tall tales of long ago around a stone fireplace... The excitement of meeting someone new and interesting... Getting over a hangover... Thumbing my nose at the silent alarm clock on Sunday morning. clock on Sunday morning. . . The comfort of worn slippers. ... The luxury of a night out you can't really afford. . . The smug holiness of doing a really good job of something once in a while. . . The unexpected smile of a stranger. . . The crying of a baby, slowly lapsors in a class.

Oh, when you start to write down all the things worth living for, the list gets endless. What's on your list?
