TODAY'S QUOTE: "A statesman is a politician you agree with."—The Old Master.

OPERA LECTURE: Dr. Sigfrid Prager will conclude his series of four opera lectures at 8 p.m. Monday, Jan. 14, in Music Hall.

Free to the public, these lectures are based on the current Metropolitan Opera Co. broadcasts and are sponsored by the University of Wisconsin school of music through the Gertrude Slaughter and George W. Mead funds.

FROM FILMLAND: Edith Gwyn, The State Journal's Hollywood correspondent, writes...

Two of Hollywood's most widely-publicized hypochondriacs, Sid Skolsky and Eddie Cantor, are having daily confabs now—not about their aches and pains—but about "The Eddie Cantor Story" that Sid will produce at Warners. It gives us a pain in the neck, though, that the studio is searching madly for someone to play Cantor, wanting only Eddie's voice in the film (as with Lary Parks in the Jolson pictures)—because they need "a younger actor." Sounds like they hadn't seen Cantor lately. This guy, who hasn't spent an inactive moment professionally in 10 years, hasn't got many years, hasn't a gray hair on his head, retains the same bounce, waistline, etc., he had in his Ziegfeld days. Except perhaps for a hat to play him as a child, what's wrong with having Cantor play Cantor? Isn't he "the type?"

George Jessel has gone east for various reasons, one of 'em being to wind up as the screen biog of impresario Sol Hurok of concert and ballet fame.

D. F. Zanuck's super-duper, "Snows of Kilimanjaro" (the Ernest Hemingway yarn, finally gets underway this month with Gregory Peck and Susan Hayward costarring. Hildegarde Neff has a featured role, plus Anne Francis. They snooker-pretended "Singing in the Rain" together night and night. Freed, Gene Kelly, wrong with having Cantor play Cantor.
