TIP OF THE MORNING: On-the-spot descriptions of the funeral of King George VI will be recorded for delayed broadcast today on WIBA and WISC. The former will use highlights during regular newscasts, and the latter will carry a half-hour report at 3 p. m.

GEORGE LONDON, bass-baritone who will sing at the Wisconsin Union theater Feb. 26 and 27, has been chosen as soloist for the opening broadcast of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony orchestra's 1952-53 radio season. He will sing the title role in excerpts from "Boris Godonoff," with Dimitri Mitropoulos conducting, on Sunday, Oct. 19.

Prof. Cornelius Golightly and William Weaver will speak at the Negro History Week observance, featuring the Blue Jay Singers of Birmingham, Ala., to be held at 7:30 p. m. Sunday in the Salvation Army temple.

The Badger and Cardinal bands of the University of Wisconsin will unite for a concert at 8 p. m. Sunday, Feb. 24, in Music hall. Donald M. Wendlandt and Donald E. Marouiller will conduct the bands in a program of light concert music. It will be open to the public without charge.

Eight members of the University of Wisconsin Men's chorus will go to Milwaukee on Thursday to sing that night at the second annual "Wisconsin Night" sponsored by the Wisconsin Alumni club of Milwaukee.

The program will be at 7:30 in the Wisconsin Ave. school. The singers chosen by Prof. Paul Jones, director of the chorus, are Melvin Wade and Lawrence McCormick, Madison, first tenors; Gene Britton, Madison, and Richard Fjeldheim, Rib Lake, second tenors; Donald Damon and Charles E. Albert, Madison, baritones, and William Hopkins, Milwaukee, and Jerome Goodrich, Madison, basses. Richard Tappa, Kenosha, will be accompanist.

Kirsten Flagstad always includes a group of compositions by American composers in her recitals, and she will make no exception when she sings Feb. 18, 20, and 23 in the Wisconsin Union theater. In the first two programs, she will sing works of John Alden Carpenter, Michael Head, and Elinor Remick Warren; in the third, she will have songs by A. Walter Kramer, Samuel Barber, Head, and Carpenter.

FILM FARE: Edith Gwynn, State Journal correspondent, reports from Hollywood... June Jeffrey goes from her small role in C. Chaplin's "Limelight" to a bigger one in "Botany Bay" with Alan Ladd and Patricia Medina. But Claire Bloom, the femme star of "Limelight," is heading back to London. Van Heflin's spouse, Frances, leaving to join him in Toggart, Algeria where he's with the "Pharmacia's Mask" company. Since Van left Filmtown for this oasis, he's travelled by plane, train, taxi, boat, horse, camel and jackass. Variations of the Grade Allen oldie are around again, we note.

To wit: "The first thing George notices about a beautiful woman is the size of her husband." Yvonne de Carlo is suddenly back in Hollywood after that trip to Uruguay's Film Festival—and back days ahead of the rest of the group of stars and other celebs who went. Hmmm???
