Sen. Kerr to Oppose Kefauver in Nebraska
OMAHA, Neb. (UP)—Sen. Gerald Kerr (D-Okla.) said Tuesday he will enter the Nebraska presidential preference primary April 1 against Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.).

Kerr said he had consented to have his name put on the ballot after a 'spontaneous' request by a group of Democrats at the party's state pre-primary convention here. James Green, chairman of the Douglas county (Omaha) Democratic organization, said Kerr had 'agreed' to allow petitions to be circulated to put him in the race. Kefauver backers announced Monday that the Tennessee senator had decided to enter the primary. Kerr was keynote speaker at the convention here.

TIP O' THE MORNING: If you're still puzzled about the difference between AM and FM broadcasting, I suggest you listen to H. B. McCarty explaining it to the children on 'News of the Week' via WHA and the state network at 1:30 p. m. Thursday.

CULTURAL activities of Wisconsin's rural areas and cities were sampled Tuesday night at the Wisconsin Union theater by an audience of about 750 persons, most of whom were in Madison for Farm and Home week.

Music, drama, and literature were represented on the program, arranged by the Wisconsin Idea Theater.

Prof. Robert E. Gard of the Idea Theater described as 'the state's proud tradition in drama, art, and music,' brought by immigrants from Europe about 1868.

He noted that Wisconsin was a home of the greatest nationality theater in the United States—a playhouse in Milwaukee which was on the regular circuit of German troupes who crossed the sea to play there.

Players from Muscoda high school opened the performance with the suspense-drama, 'Heat Lightning.' The cast of three was directed by Nell Greene; the actors' names were not announced, but the girl of the trio gave a thoroughly chilling portrayal of a woman caught in a strange web of circumstance.

Ronald C. Gee of the Idea Theater staff told of the founding, development, and experiences of the Orchard Hill Players, summer theater at Devils Lake State park, operated in cooperation with the Baraboo-Theater Guild, and showed pictures of its season—including a disastrous storm.

Drama was also represented by Tom Hendry, who told about Winnebago county's unique-wide organization, and Manly Sharp of Douglas county.

Music was by Elizabeth Nalbandian, Racine soprano; Agnes Broadway, Waupun saxophonist, and the Sauk County Male chorus, directed by Cecil Ragatz.

Acted by Bohrod, artist-in-residence at the University of Wisconsin, invited Farm and Home visitors to an open house at his studio this afternoon and Thursday afternoon, then introduced Mrs. Ruth Stolle, Tripoli, who told of art work in Oneida county.

There, she said, rural artists have learned that the eternal search for self-expression 'functions best in 'togetherness,' represented by class work, cooperation, and the help of university staff members.

Work of the 2,000-member Rural Writers Association was discussed by Fidelia Van Antwerp, Wisconsin Dells, chairman of its advisory board, and samples of writing were presented by Mrs. John Lloyd, Cambria; Mrs. Wayne Padley, Lodi; and Mrs. Theron Black, Columbus.

ART EXHIBITION: Deadline for entry cards for the 13th annual Madison Artists exhibition is Friday, and entries will be accepted at Scanlan hall from 4 to 9 p. m. Thursday, Feb. 14. Mrs. William K. Ackermann, exhibition chairman, has announced.

The show will be judged by Regina Marsh, New York artist who has been here before as a juror for the Wisconsin State of Art. Entries are limited to artists who are residents of Dane county or members of the Madison Art assn.

The exhibition will open with a preview and reception for artists at 8 p. m. Saturday, Feb. 16, in Scanlan hall. Prizes will be awarded at 9 p. m.

Public showing will be from Feb. 17 through Mar. 8. A total of $535 in prizes and awards will be given. They are: Mrs. Francis E. Marshall award, $100; Catherine Head Coleman award of excellence, $100; Oscar F. Mayer purchase prize for best painting in oil selected on basis of adaptability to school use, $100;

Harry S. Manchester award in water color, $50; Madison Art assn. award in water color, $35; Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Hefty award of merit, $25; Wisconsin State Journal award for meritorious work in graphic art, $25;

Honorable mention in graphic arts, $15; Honorable mention in graphic arts, $10; Joe Rothschild award for meritorious work in sculpture and ceramics, $25; Madison Art assn. award, $25.

SPEAKER: Art Schroeder, staff announcer at WIBA, told the Columbus Kiwanis club about his radio experiences when he spoke at its meeting Monday. A veteran of 18 years in broadcasting, Schroeder joined WIBA in June after working at WFOV, WIBU, and stations in Rochester and Hibbing, Minn.

BAND TOUR: Some dates for the University of Wisconsin 150 band's spring tour are still open, and sponsors within 150 miles of the Lake Winnebago area can still get dates between Apr. 18 and 24. Director Raymond P. Dvorak says, 'The band charges no fee for its performances,' he adds. 'Sponsors are expected to underwrite only the expenses for travel, meals, and lodging.'

5 Hurley Tavern Men Fined on Vice Charges

HURLEY — (UP)—Five Hurley tavernkeepers were found guilty Tuesday of operating houses of ill fame and fined a total of $2,000 by County Judge R. C. Trembath.

Six woman employees charged as a result of raids at the taverns forfeited a total of $600.

The tavernkeepers have a combined record of 32 state vice convictions since 1942. They were arrested after a raid Jan. 16 by 17 beverage tax agents.

The operators, Nora Abraham, Nora's bar; Agatino Di Giorgio, the Ritz; William Matrella, Blackhawk; Bud Howell, Chateau, and Joe Vita, Hi-Ho club, were fined $400 each.

The women who forfeited bonds were: Janet Brady, Nora's bar, $75, inmate, Julia Reyes, Nora's bar, $75, solicitation; Sally Andrews, the Ritz, $75, solicitation; Ruth LaBarre, the Ritz, $75, inmate; Ruth Dahl, Blackhawk, $150, solicitation; and Lee Anderson, Chateau, $150, solicitation.

other radio centers in the United States which is being circulated throughout Japan.

The quartet visited Madison in 1949 and 1950 to study in-school broadcasting. The men, associated with the Japanese ministry of education, are trying to increase the effectiveness of such radio use in their schools.

The book's cover shows Prof. James A. Schwalbach and a studio group from his 'Let's Draw' program. Inside are photos of Prof. E. B. Gordon conducting 'Journeys in Music Land,' Mabel Howe and her pupils at the Frank Allis school, and Mrs. Elsie Reynolds with a listening group of Wisconsin Dells first-graders.

HOW can people help in the fight against higher prices?

By continuing to save — and urging government to save, too

The families of America are saving more now than at any time except during World War II. They're saving at an annual rate of $22 billions—twice the 1950 rate, and almost eight times the rate in 1939! And this despite today's high taxes and high prices. These savings must be kept up if we are to hold down inflationary pressures. Buying less means less demand and this helps keep prices from increasing. But that in itself will not be enough. Because government spending also affects prices, every individual should encourage the government to save. And while large spending is necessary now for our defense, government should make every effort to spend carefully and without waste. Then, too, individuals can help local, state and federal government save by not asking for any more services at this time and insisting on economy.

America's 86 million policyholders, through life insurance, are making America a better place to work in and to live in. They are providing for the future of their families and themselves. Their life insurance dollars are invested all over the country. And their healthy habit of thrift is one of the nation's strongest bulwarks against inflation.
