Midwest Gets Break as East, South Swelter

CHICAGO — (UP) — The East and South sweltered in 100-degree weather Thursday.

The mercury shot to a record-breaking 101 at Washington, D. C. and climbed over 100 in parts of New York City.

President Truman called off his press conference and at New York's City Hall park the pigeons fought each other to get at the bird bath.

Cleveland had a record-breaking high of 99, but in the South it was even hotter.

Morehead City, N. C., recorded 107 degrees compared with a previous all-time high for that coastal city of only 94. Raleigh, N. C., had 104, equalling the all-time record, and Smithfield, N. C., broke its all-time record with 103.

At least 12 persons had died from the heat and nine drowned trying to get relief in the water. The heat wave had swept into the East from the scorched Midwestern plains, where a cooling breeze from the North sent the mercury skidding to delightful readings in the 70's.

At Detroit a huge thermometer in Cadillac Square went crazy with the heat. When the temperature hit 97 the indicator gyrated wildly and ended up at five below zero.

It was 100 degrees at Hell, Mich., but 30 degrees cooler at Paradise, Mich. Temperatures soared into the high 90s throughout much of the eastern two-thirds of the nation.

Forecasters said temporary relief was on the way in the form of a cool air mass from the Northern Plains moving slowly toward the East.

It hit Chicago at midday and dropped the temperature from 91 to 74 degrees in 80 minutes. The cool air may reach New York state by today, but forecasters warned that oven-hot air hanging over the South will move north by Saturday to send the mercury soaring again.

White House Denies British Influenced MacArthur's Firing

WASHINGTON — The White House said Thursday President Truman was not influenced by Britain, or any other foreign power, in his 1951 decision to remove Gen. Douglas MacArthur as Far Eastern commander. Press secretary Joseph Short in effect denied an assertion by Modern Art; Alexander Liberman, art director, Conde Nast publications; Edgar P. Richardson, director, Detroit Institute of Arts; Paul Mosekoff, art critic, United Press; and Alfred M. Frankfurter, editor of Art News. Either oil paintings or water colors, with a maximum size of 30 by 40 inches and a minimum of 6 by 12 inches, may be entered. The competition closes for the receipt of entries Dec. 31, 1952. The 18 medal-winning pictures in the 1951 competition are now on tour.
