British Adventuress Feared Drowned in Atlantic Ocean

DOUARDNENEZ, France—(UP)
—Maritime quarters feared Sunday that Ann Davidson, 38, British advertures who set out from here Paula Stone (WISC): and Ralph venturess who set out from here June 10 in an attempt to become the first woman to sall the Atlantic alone, might have perished in the stormy waters of Gascogne bay.

No word had come from the blue eyed skipper since she put her 23-foet sloop Felicity Ann out of the tiny Douarnenez harbor. She was bound first for Cape Finisterre, Spain's most westward point.

The, Felicity Ann, which carried no radio, was towed into port here when she developed engine trouble, off the French coast May 24. While workmen repaired the trouble. Les Paul, Mary Ford, Leland Hayms. Davidson told newsmen she ward, Georgiana Carbart, others, would make for finisterre, the Azores, and then "some point" May Adopts New
