Complex Wins Divorce for Star Fifi D'Orsay

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Tearfully, actress Fifi D'Orsay told the divorce judge Monday that it's too bad for a woman to have the complex that she isn't wanted.
She explained:
"He would stay out until 5 or 6 a. m., telling me he had been talking business. It must have been funny business. When he came home he wouldn't kiss me. I wasn't wanted."
"He" is Peter George La Ricos, 37, who was her business manager as well as her second husband.
Miss D'Orsay, 42, was granted the divorce on grounds of cruelty. They were married in 1947.

You can depend on natural gas

because of the Pipe Line's PEOPLE

People, after all, are what make any company, any product, any service dependable. Money alone is worthless, without the intelligence to invest it wisely, conservatively, productively. Equipment, however much there may be, is of no value without the skill to assemble and maintain it. And, neither is valuable without the experience and grey-haired knowledge that is so necessary to apply both money and equipment to a forward-looking, expansive plan of service, with a realistic target of increased benefits, to growing numbers of people, in more communities.

The Michigan-Wisconsin Pipe Line, we honestly believe, is blessed with its people. Where technical skills are needed, we have true technicians. Where service is important, our men and women have lifetime backgrounds of service. And, where cool-headed managerial direction is important, our people are vanguard leaders, not timorous, wait-and-see followers.

You can readily see what this good fortune in personnel means to us. And it must follow, as the night the day, that it has a most important meaning for you, too. It means that you can depend on natural gas, in Wisconsin.
