

Two of Sunday's Soloists

ROBERT WOOLLEN WILLIAM DRUCKENMILLER

Robert Woollen, clarinetist, and William Druckenmiller, flutist, will be among the soloists at the free young people's concert which the Madison Civic Symphony orchestra will give at 3:30 p.m. Sunday in the Masonic auditorium.

TIP OF THE MORNING: Eddie Fisher has a double hit in his newest disc—"Hold Me" and "Everything I Have Is Yours." It was about time, too, that somebody brought "Hold Me" back to the public ear.

CARLETON E. MORSE, writer of "One Man's Family," "I Love a Mystery," and "The Woman in My Rouse," will soon have another series on the air. It's "Mysteries by Morse," and he has completed 52 scripts.

A mystery story left unfinished by the death of Charles Dickens will be completed by a group of modern mystery writers and presented in two parts on CBS "Suspense" Jan. 5 and 12. It's "The Mystery of Edwin Drood."

Milton Cross again will be narrator for the Metropolitan Opera broadcasts, which start the new season Saturday via ABC-WISC. Curt Massey this week starts his 30th year in show business. He began at the age of 12 as pianist in a theater at Roswell, N. Mex.

"My Little Margie," a summer television show, will become a radio program Sunday, Dec. 7, when it takes over the "Playhouse on Broadway" spot (7:30 p. m.) on CBS. "Playhouse" will move to 8:30 p. m. Wednesdays Dec. 3—replacing "What's My Line," due to leave the air.

"Pal Joey," the Rodgers-Hart-O'Hara musical, will play the 375th performance of its revival Wednesday night, thus exceeding Gabriel Pascal hopes to film "The Devil's Disciple," and Marion Brandt wants to play the lead. There's a report around that Ethel Barrymore persuaded John Barrymore, Jr., to go to Paris to study acting by showing him his father's films for seven straight evenings.

Denise Dancel and Patric Knowles will co-star in "Flame of Calcutta," to be filmed in color by Columbia Pictures.

DISC OF THE DAY: Erroll Garner's new recording of "Summertime" leaves the melody in the lurch, but Garner fans and jazz enthusiasts probably will go for it. John Simmons, bass, and Shadow Wilson, drums, back Garner's piano. The second side is "What Next?" (Columbia).

YOU CAN OWN A 20-ACRE OIL AND GAS LEASE IN THE OIL RICH WILLISTON BASIN— TODAY'S MOST EXCITING OIL REGION—ONLY $69 No stock to buy, no taxes to pay... $69 covers all costs, and all lease rental charges to June 1953. You can purchase from us oil and gas leases in the fabulous Williston Basin—North America's newest oil frontier, where oil strikes are being made and wildcat wells are drilling. A speculation, of course, but one that might bring you untold wealth in this area known as the Williston Basin. If you can afford to speculate in this new oil region, you can acquire from Petroleum Research Co. a 20-acre oil and gas lease for only $69. This covers all costs and lease rental charges to June 1953. After June 1953, rentals will then be paid by you at the rate of 25¢ per acre or $5 per year until the expiration of the lease in June 1962. Once you own the lease, you don't have a thing to do. No improvements to make, no taxes to pay. If oil or gas should be discovered nearby, an oil company might wish to deal directly with you in order to drill on your lease. You can then demand a cash bonus before they even start to drill, also a royalty on every barrel of oil produced. Or, if you wish, you can sell outright for cash. You probably wonder why all the undeveloped oil and gas leases are not already sold in the Williston Basin—the reason is that outside the oil business few people understand how these leases may be purchased. If you can afford to speculate in this new oil frontier, just send us your name and address, along with your check or money order for only $69 payable to Petroleum Research Co. We will then record 20 acres in your name and you will receive a recorded Assignment of Oil and Gas Lease (within about two weeks), and also a plat showing location of your lease in the North Dakota area of the Williston Basin. Since we only have a limited amount of leases available, we are recording them on a first come, first served basis. Act now—your check today! Write Department MS-96.
