TIP O' THE MORNING: Mitzi Green may revive the "Baby Snooks" character created by Fannie Brice, with Jack Arthur as "Daddy."

HAL BLACK WILL RETURN to the CBS "What's My Line?" panel during Bennett Cerf's absence. The publisher-author-columnist, who spoke in Madison on Saturday, is on a six-week vacation.

Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians began an eight-week tour Monday, traveling by air. Motion Picture Daily says they'll rent basses, cellos, other large instruments in each of their 59 cities because they can't get them in the plane.

Earl Godwin, NBC commentator, celebrated his 75th birthday Friday.

Jean Hight, a CBS production man for 22 years, has taken over direction of "Let's Pretend," which had been written, produced, and directed by Nila Mack from 1930 until her death last week. Hight has directed it frequently during Miss Mack's absence on vacation or for other reasons.

The Danielson brothers, who operate a dairy farm near Cadott, will receive the weekly "Agricultural Achievement Award" on "This Farming Business" over NBC-WIBA at 7 a.m. Saturday.

The theme music for "On Stage with Elliott and Cathy Lewis" was written for the CBS-WKOW show by Ray Noble.

Vincent Price, Frank Lovejoy, and Phyllis Kirk have been signed for the top roles in Warner Brothers' first three-dimensional, color film, "House of Wax."

Bill Evans, WGN's "waker-upper," observed his 10th anniversary as master of ceremonies of that station's "Bill Evans Show" on Monday. Evans is a University of Wisconsin alumnus; as Maurice Camelin, he won his degree in education in 1934. During college days, he earned his way as a violinist, singer, and cook, and was in Haresfoot club shows. Evans was born in Superior and got his first radio job there in 1935. Just before going to WGN, he was at WTMD, Milwaukee, for five years.

TODAY'S QUOTE: "Funny how everyone wants something that's new. If television had been invented before radio, everybody would be running out to buy one of them wonderful new inventions that does away with them unsightly pictures."—Herb Shriner.

ON TOUR: For the first time in its 72 years, the Boston Symphony orchestra is planning a transcontinental tour. First concert will be April 21 in Detroit. The orchestra will play in Chicago May 15, 16, and 17; in East Lansing, Mich., May 18, and in Ann Arbor, Mich., May 19.

TALENT SEARCH: Director Fred Zinnemann and Producer Buddy Adler are seeking an "unknown young actress—a young Bette Davis" to play Alma in "From Here to Eternity." She will play opposite Montgomery Clift.

DISC OF THE DAY: You're hearing more of Mindy Carson's "The Choo Bye Song" on the air than the tune on the other side—"Tell Me You're Mine"—but don't let that fool you. "Mine" is plenty good, too. (Columbia).

YOUNG COMPOSERS CONTEST: Terms of the 1952-1953 Young Composers contest of the National Federation of Music Clubs have just been announced by Halsey Stevens, of Los Angeles, head of the department of composition of the University of Southern California and national chairman of these events.

A total of $500 in prizes is offered for works in the following classifications: a combination of nine orchestral instruments, of which the piano may be one, and a combination of 10 to 30 orchestral instruments, of which the piano may be one. In each of these two classifications the awards are the same, $150 for first prize and $100 for second prize.

The competition is open to contestants between 16 and 25 years of age.

Closing date for the receipt of entries is March 25, 1953.

An additional award of scholarship at the Indian Hill summer music school at Stockbridge, Mass., valued at $600 and named in honor of Charles Ives, is offered in con-
