Rural Art Show to Open Today

100 Paintings to Be Displayed at U.W.
The 14th annual Wisconsin Rural Art show will open today in the Memorial Union on the University of Wisconsin campus, with 100 paintings by state artists on display.
The pictures will be on display in both the main and theater galleries until June 22.
They were chosen from among more than 1,800 shows at 12 regional rural art shows during the last few months.
Entries were limited to amateurs who live in rural areas of Wisconsin.
The statewide show is sponsored by the Blue Shield club and the Wisconsin Union gallery committee, both composed of university students.
Painters from the Madison area represented in the exhibition are: Mrs. Marie Grosshans, Baraboo; Mrs. Ellen Malsch, Beloit; Clyde Dickenson, Epseobel; Mrs. Frances Burt, Brodhead; Mrs. Glenn Kramer, Eastman; Walter Marsden, Edgerton; Mrs. Mary C. Hoard, Evelyn Puerrier; and Louise Welsby, Et. Atkinson; John R. Sargent and Mrs. John R. Sargent, Gratiot; Edwin Hagenah and Doris E. Mitchell, Hillsboro; Mrs. Katherine Clementson, Mrs. Lela Smith, Mrs. Edward Staver, and Mrs. Mabel C. Waldmann, Lancaster; Andrew Clark, Lodi; H. T. Cramen, Middleton; Lyle Novinski, Plattville; Modesta Macke and Mrs. Anita Schaefer, Potosi; Gordon Peckham, Prairie du Chien; Mrs. Ethel Eiffling, Victory; Mrs. N. H. Miller, Wauzeka; and William M. Vandersande, Wisconsin Dells.
350,000 Workers to Get GM Boosts
DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. and the CIO United Auto Workers (UAW) Friday agreed to changes in their current five-year contract to provide pay raises and other benefits for 350,000 workers throughout the nation.
The agreement was reached as separate strikes in four Midwest auto plants, idled 135,650 workers in the automotive industry.
UAW President Walter P. Reuther said the union would "press immediately" for similar concessions from other major manufacturers which have long-term contracts with the union.
Shortly after the GM-UAW announcement, James B. Carey, president of the CIO Electrical Workers Union, said GM and his union had reached a similar agreement covering 40,000 GM Electrical workers.

Bill Doudna's Spotlight

TIP O' THE MORNING: Record distributors will try selling their wares on a "self-service" basis in grocery and variety stores, the Billboard reports.
MARGARET WEBSTER, a leading producer of Shakespearean plays, has sent a series of recordings to Milton college in recognition of the school's golden jubilee of its own Shakespearean productions.
Miss Webster sent the recordings when she learned of Milton's 50-year program. They were made by her group now touring in "An Evening with Will Shakespeare." Members are Miss Webster, Basil Rathbone, Eva Le Gallienne, and Faye Emerson.
The records will be played Sunday afternoon, June 7, as part of a Shakespeare Festival program.
Besides this feature, the afternoon will include readings from Shakespeare's plays by college actors of former years.
RECITAL: The first of a series of four piano recitals by pupils of Stella Kayser will be given at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the Wisconsin School of Music.
Appearing will be Marion Amley, Sally and Nancy Miles, Dorothy Mae Bessert, Peter Wolfe, Santha Quisling, Muriel Colman, Stewart Quisling, Jack McLeod, Billy War, Celoris Hackbarth, Carol Nitzsche, Richard Sachse, Tori and Fritz Polke, Lynn Fitzpatrick, Nancy Zawacki, Jean Whiffen, Lynne Watrous, Joan Jerred, and Martha and Tim Frantschli.
WORKSHOP: A summer theater workshop organized around major units of play production, staging, and acting will be a part of the schedule of offerings at the Wisconsin State College summer school at Eau Claire, June 15 to July 24, Leonard Haas, director of the summer session, announced Friday. The course will offer six points of credit.
"The workshop is designed primarily for secondary school teachers who have responsibilities in play productions, but is open to others whether their specialty is dramatics or acting," he said.
Earl Kier, of the college speech department and director of the Little Theater, will conduct the workshop.
The production unit, Haas indicated, will include preparation of plays, selection editing, and planning for production. Casting will be considered. Other activities will include development of an efficient backstage organization, the handling of props, costumes, business and advertising problems. One costume show will be included in the summer fill to give experience in that field.
