TIP O' THE MORNING: "Mind Your Manners" will return to WIBA Thursday in an evening spot—8 p. m. It used to be heard Saturdays.

THE REPERTORY Theater will start its second week BRIDGE FAVORED of performances tonight, again presenting "The Importance of Being Earnest" with a cast headed by Agatha Fowlkes, Don and Anne Soule, Charles Mark, and Donna Wenger Donna Wenger.

After tonight's show, the cast and crew will be hosts at a reception for the audience. Curtain time for "Earnest" will be 8:30 tonight through

Saturday night. WITH JAMES: Bobby Wayne, Mercury records star, will be with Harry James and his Music Makers at the Parkway theater

Tuesday night.

He began his career on a Massachusetts station, then joined Ruby Newman's band as a vocalist. An appearance on "Talent Scouts" led to a London recording contract. Then Mercury signed him on an Tuesday night. He began signed him on an exclusive basis.

FILMS FOR PROGRESS: The University of Wisconsin has begun an unusual project to learn be how effective films can be in community improvement and development. The program is in the hands of a film utilization committee composed of Profs. W. A. Wittich, director of the bureau of audio-vis-ual education; B. W. Kreitlow, departments of education and ag-ricultural education, and H. L. Ahlgren, associate director of agricultural extension. M. G. Batho of the school of education is project assistant.

A series of film forums in 24 rural. Wisconsin communities is being used to determine the comparative effectiveness of four techniques of film utilization to promote community development.
These techniques will be compared in terms of their suitabil-ity in assisting local groups in studying their own communities and for planning constructive re medial action.

The basis of the film forums is "Tale of Two Towns," a 16 mm. sound motion picture presenting the documentary story of how two small Michigan towns went about solving their problems. about solving their problems.
