Bill Doudna's SPOTLIGHT 'Affairs of State'

TIP OF THE MORNING: Dancer Renee Jeanmaire will star in a Broadway musical, "The Girl in the Pink Tights."

EXCEEDINGLY CAPABLE performances by Donald Robinson and Lois Dietrich and the topical quality of the witty dialog made "Affairs of State" an enjoyable show when Wisconsin Players opened their summer season with it Thursday night.

These, and Director Fredrick Buerki's attention to such varied details as meaningful delivery of lines and completely harmonious setting, made one almost forget the triteness of the story.

This playgoer, for one, was constantly reminded of "What Every Woman Knows" and a little number in vogue about 1915 called "He Fell in Love with His Wife."

Nevertheless, the acting was a delight, the words were good for innumerable laughs, and the whole thing was a pleasant way to spend a summer evening.

Robinson played a retired secretary of state who used his famed diplomacy to resolve a domestic situation involving his wife, her niece, and a senator. Robinson played the role calmly, yet vitally, and made the elder statesman constantly credible. His quiet speech had a clarity one seldom hears.

Mrs. Dietrich returned to the stage after too long an absence as the niece who married the senator as a matter of his political convenience, only to reveal at the climax that she had really loved him before he even noticed her.

Her picture of Irene was that of an unimaginative but realistic and direct girl who could successfully hide her emotions under a mass of information and drab clothes, but who could become charming, conversational, and striking in appearance when she chose.

Ronald Ranscht played the ambitious senator with dignity and self-assurance until the moment he discovered that he loved the girl rather than the ex-secretary's wife, who was his own age, but 20 years her husband's junior. Ranscht's only trouble was that he couldn't look quite 40.

His and Mrs. Dietrich's sudden dropping of the pretense of their marriage at one point in the second act was a thoroughly delicious moment.

Margot Herriott played the wife ably, and Walter Malec contributed a few choice moments as the current secretary of state, who had his own marital troubles.

Blondie Jennings was the most believable hater I have ever seen on a stage.

The setting included a Washington mural, with Harry Truman and his piano; judicious use of glass brick and sliding doors, and contemporary art (from the Memorial Union collection) properly displayed.

"Affairs of State" will be repeated at 8 tonight and at 8 p. m. Saturday in the Wisconsin Union theater.

Location of Hospital to Tavern Clarified

A state law that bans establishing a tavern within one mile of a hospital for insane persons applies only to state institutions, Atty. Gen. Vernon Thomson said Thursday.

In an opinion for Wood County Dist. Atty. John M. Potter, of Wisconsin Rapids, the attorney general said the law does not apply to county asylums.
