TIP OF THE MORNING: An address by Dag Hammarskjold, secretary general of the UN, will be broadcast Monday night by NBC-WIBA.

THREE MADISON pianists will appear with the Waukesha Symphony orchestra during its 1953-54 season. Julie and Juliette Gerke, duo-pianists, will play the Poulenc concerto Nov. 24 and Francesca Schmaecher will offer Bachmanoff's Paganini variations April 6. Miss Schmaecher won the orchestra's 1953 competition for young pianists last spring. The season will open Oct. 20 with an evening of Italian opera, during which the Milwaukee Chamber Opera Co. will appear in Puccini's "Il Tabarro." Elvita Clementi, soprano, and Sidney Stockton, tenor, will be on the same program. Joseph Schuster, cellist, will be soloist Feb. 23 and the Waukesha High School A Cappella choir will assist on the May 18 concert. The season also will include three young people's programs: a concert Nov. 17 in the Oconomowoc high school. The season will also include three young people's programs: a concert Nov. 17 in the Oconomowoc high school.

NAMES IN THE NEWS: Lauritz Melchior's 3,000-acre estate in the Russian zone of Berlin—confiscated by the Russians during World War II—will become a deluxe hotel for Russian officers. The Reds are going to pay rent to Melchior—$6 a month. William "Hopalong Cassidy" Boyd will be featured for the fourth time in Macy's Thanksgiving Day parade in New York City. He will also head the United Fund parade in Detroit on Oct. 19. Gladys George, famed stage

Franklin ballet for Nov. 9. Liberae will give an extra concert in Chicago on Sunday, Oct. 18. The Oct. 17 program is already a sell-out. Pamela Mason will be "lady editor" when Bob Hope's daytime show (NBC-WIBA) starts its new season Sept. 21. "Lum n' Abner" will return to radio via ABC on Sept. 14. Joe Kelly will bring his "Quis Kids" back to radio (CBS-WBBM) Sept. 13. Lionel Barrymore will continue as narrator when "Hall of Fame" returns Sept. 13 (CBS-WKOW). DISC OF THE DAY: Art Van Damme, for whom the accordion seems to have been invented, and his quietest and pleasant listening in a Columbia "Martini Tune." The tunes include "Surry with the Fringe on Top," "Adios," "If I Could be with You," and others.

Men Will Never Raise Cuff-Line, Clothiers Say
 WASHINGTON (U.P.)—American women may change to shorter hemlines soon but men will never raise the cuff-line, a clothing group predicted Tuesday. The style committee of the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers saw no serious threat to long pants in the popularity achieved this summer by Bermuda-length shorts. The committee, however, did forecast one summer style change for men—a shift to dark colors in straw hats.

Man Pleads Guilty to Forgery Charge
 Ray Longfield, 25, of 1936 E. Main st., pleaded guilty in Superior Court late Tuesday afternoon to forging his wife's name to six checks and cashing them for $90 at Madison taverns. Superior Judge Roy H. Proctor postponed his sentencing until Nov. 10 and ordered him to make restitution for the checks before then. Longfield has been working as a bartender in Chicago, but returned here voluntarily to face the charges and become reconciled with his wife, Asst. Dist. Atty. William Byrne said.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE
 By Oswald Jacoby

If third hand is expected to open rather light, his partner must act discreetly with a poor hand. Somebody is bound to get hurt if both partners get busy with poor hands. West naturally doubled for a takeout, and North should have stayed out of the auction with his 6 points and miserable distribution. Instead, North decided to interfere with his opponents by bidding one no-trump. East had been wondering whether to bid hearts or spades, but he was glad to pass when North made his intervening bid. West doubled again, thus confirming the fact that he had a really good hand. It is possible to make a takeout double on a rather light hand in certain bidding situations. If your partner fails to respond to this double, however, you don't climb back into the auction unless you have a really good hand. North ran from one no-trump to the "safety" of two clubs. At this stage East decided that some-thing funny was going on and that a penalty double might clarify the situation. He had very little for the double, but he had already indicated a weak hand by passing over one no-trump. West opened the ten of clubs. West opened the ten of clubs, a very fine choice. It was evident that his partner had trump strength and length, so West was anxious to draw trumps. South won with the king of clubs and led a low spade. West put up the queen of spades and led his remaining trump, which was covered by dummy's eight. East's jack. South won with the ace of clubs and led a heart. West put up the queen of hearts and was allowed to hold the trick. West thought deeply for a moment or two and came to the conclusion that his partner had to have diamond strength since it was evident that he had nothing in the major-suits and only four moderately good trumps. West therefore boldly led a low diamond, and East was able to win with the king. East returned a spade, and West took his spade and got out with a third round of the same suit. South now finessed the jack of hearts and cashed the ace of hearts. When declarer then had to turn his attention to diamonds West was able to take his jack and ace. By now, East was reduced to trumps alone, and the queen and seven of clubs were good for the last two tricks. South managed to take only five tricks. East was therefore punished to the tune of 800 points.

Churchill, Cabinet Meet on Suez Issue
 LONDON (U.P.)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill met with his cabinet Tuesday amid signs of a significant new turn in Anglo-Egyptian talks over the Suez Canal zone. A round of top level conferences here among British and Egyptian representatives gave rise to predictions of early developments in the long and bitter dispute over the garrisoning of British troops in the zone.

One Family has piloted them all

Five generations of one family and one hundred years of railroading are no uncommon combination on the Illinois Central:

When son follows father in this manner, you can be sure the fathers are men who get solid satisfaction as well as good pay from their jobs.

And the fact that, today, sons continue to follow fathers is the best answer to a question asked: "Do young men get the excitement and satisfaction out of railroading that they did 25 years ago?"

To me, it is obvious that they do. The reason is this: Railroading today is as progressive, exciting and important as ever. We are glad that young men find it so. For they help us to maintain and improve the fine transportation service that is vital to you and all the people of Mid-America.

Why Let Mosquitoes and Flies Make Your Life Miserable?

There's no need to let this hungry horde torment you during your leisure and business hours. Arwell offers a unique mosquito and fly control program to help individuals and communities enjoy Summer as never before!

Specialists in insect control for over a quarter of a century, Arwell has the equipment, manpower and "know-how" to do either the complete control job or to provide expert counsel and supervision for the control work if performed by individual groups or city employees.

Investigate today! It is much easier and more effective to reduce the insect breeding potential "the Arwell way" than to try to kill off an adult insect population "the swat way." No obligation, of course.
