Unique Art Exhibition in Milwaukee

An art exhibit unique in Wisconsin history has opened at the Milwaukee Art Institute. It is "The Story of Medicine in Art." This exhibit is arranged to trace, in a manner interesting alike to professional and lay people, the story of what art has contributed to the field of medicine. It evolved from an idea of Dr. LaVerre Pohl, the gallery's director, and two full years of research and planning went into its preparation. Articles have been loaned by museums, medical colleges, universities, individual collectors, artists, dealers, and pharmaceutical houses. The show includes manuscripts, medals, and stamps, as well as lithographs, paintings, and sculpture. The exhibit is being shown in the building which is being utilized by the showing of this collection. The exhibition is co-sponsored by the state Medical Society, the Medical Society of Milwaukee County, their Women's Auxiliaries, the Boston Store, and the Milwaukee Art Institute. It has been timed to cover the dates of the annual meeting of the State Medical Society Oct. 5-8 so that physicians and their wives from all over the state will have a chance to see it. A special reception for them is planned for Tuesday, Oct. 6, at 5:30 p.m.
