SPOTLIGHT
'South Pacific'

TIP O' THE MORNING: Concerts by the NBC Sym-phony orchestra will be sponsored by an oil company begin-ning Nov. 8. They will be broadcast by WIBA and WBA-FM.

FOR THE first time since it opened in 1927, the Orpheum theater has booked a full-length legitimate show for a week's run. It is "South Pacific," to be performed Monday through Saturday nights, Nov. 30-Dec. 5, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

In the theater's early days, it played a series of tabloid musical hits—"Irene" and others—but "South Pacific" will be the first complete show there.

Jeanne Bai will play the role created by Mary Martin, and Webb Tilley will have the Eric Plizer part. Also in the cast will be Stanley G. Paves, as Lieut. Cable, Mari Young as Tia, Dor-othy Franklin as Bloody Mary, Benny Baker as Luther Billis, Russ Brown as Capt. Brackett, and Alan Baxter as Comdr. Bar-bison.

The score includes such hits as "I'm Gonna Wash That Man Right Out of My Hair," "Some-thing Enchanted Evening," "There is Nothing Like a Dame," "Bali Hai," "I'm in Love with a Won-derful Guy," "Younger Than Springtime," and "This Nearly Was Mine."

THEATER GUILD: Appren-tice members of the Madison theater, Barbado, also on the Guild at its monthly meet-ing at 8 tonight in the Com-munity Center. Director Al Barracough will announce the cast of "Lilium," first Guild play of the season.

AT BEAVER DAM: The Beau-ty Dam Community Concert series will begin tonight with a program by Kenneth Smith, bass-baritone. Other performers will be the Carolers, Jan. 25; John Knight, pianist, Feb. 24; and De La Fuente and Stessin, violinist and pianist, March 8. Merle Tibbits, Ft. Atkinson, president of the Ft. Atkinson-Jefferson Community Concert Assn., has announced that the organization has made a reciprocal agreement with the Beaver Dam group under which members may attend the Beaver Dam programs.

NAMES IN THE NEWS: "Mr. Peepers'" romantic interest, Patricia Benoit, was married Oct. 2 to Parton Swift, Jr., a magazine production man, at White Plains, N. Y.

Marge and Gower Champion and Jack Lemmon will share star-ting honors with Judy Holiday in the film musical, "My Sister Eileen."

Alan Ladd has come to Spain to film scenes for "The Black Knight." The company will move to England next month.

Robert Taylor and Eleanor Parker are preparing for a trip
