Haresfoot, Players Comedian Faces an Important Date

By JOHN NEWHOUSE (State Journal Staff Writer)

One of the more important two hour and to minute periods in the life of E. C. Reynolds, teaching assistant in the speech de-partment of the University of Wisconsin, is coming up March

On that night, the curtain will rise on "The Happy Time," by the Wisconsin Players, and he's directing it.

Though he's appeared with the Wisconsin Players and had lead roles in two Haresfoot a hews, and though he's directed the Baraboe Players a couple of years ago, this is his first ex-perience in directing the Players big Wisconsin Union theater stage.

Understandably, he is a little concerned about how well things. Few people realize how much work goes into the finished pro-ductions put on by the Players. By the time the curtain rises, there will have been 35 to 40 re-bearsals, including tryouts and The cast is now renearing seven days a week — five week mights and Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Beginning about Feb. 20, there will probably be two rehearsals on Saturdays and Uncle Ray's Corner rehearsals on Saturdays and Uncle Rdy's Corner Sundays in addition to the five nights a week. Each rehearsal is about three hours long.

"The Happy Time" is a comedy which deals with the problems of a little boy growing top in a French family, complicated by the fact that his mother is Scotch Presbyterian and one of his brothers is a wine salesman.

his brothers is a wine salesman named Deamond, also known as the Casanova of Canada.

"The cast has a boy and a girl, each about 12," says iteynolds.

So he has the dual job of working with children and adults, and fitting their time schedules to gether. Reynolds, a native of Pocatello, Ida., got his bachelor's de-gree at Idaho State college in the winter of 1950, and came to the University of Wisconsin in February of 1951. Here he won his master's degree in speech and is now working on his doctor's degree T In 1951, he played the comedy role of Bobby Randall in the
