Advice on Your HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Too often the Christmas holidays are occasions for too much of everything. You eat too much, you play too hard, you get to bed too late. You're busy having a good time, and you overdo just about everything.

Take it easy, or you may spoil your holidays. Worse yet, you may not be able to get back to work on time. Or feel up to doing your best work if you do get there.

Too Many Goodies

Candies, cookies and goodies of all kinds abound in virtually every home at Christmastime. And of course, there's the big Christmas dinner, too.

Constant nibbling of candy, cookies, nuts and the like and then topping all this with a heavy meal of rich foods is bound to bring discomfort, if not actual damage, to your body.

Strain on System

Overindulgence of this sort puts a strain on your heart, blood vessels, kidneys and liver. You may be having a good time, but think of your body's machinery!

These foods in themselves are not harmful. It's their abuse, not their use, that does the harm. Your stomach will let you know when you have abused it. Indigestion will quickly make you regret your ways.

Remedy for Indigestion

If you are troubled by indigestion this afternoon, you can probably get relief by taking sodium bicarbonate and lying down. Mix a teaspoonful in half a glass of warm water and drink it slowly.

While you should try to avoid overeating, it is equally important to avoid excessive exertion. This is particularly true of those of you in the later years of life.

Proper Clothing

Dress warmly when you go out into the cold weather. When you come back into the house, take off your overcoat, sweater and other outdoor gear even if you're going to remain inside for just a few minutes.

Don't stand around in a warm room and perspire. If you do, you're inviting trouble when you go out again. The sudden change in temperature will strain your heart. And you know what that can do.

Get Enough Rest

For today, and all of next week, plan your activities to allow enough rest. Take a few minutes several times each day to sit down and relax. And to get to bed on time. Make sure you get your eight hours sleep every night.

If you heed this simple advice, you have a much better chance of being around to enjoy the Christmas holidays again next year.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

C. R.: Would an acid saliva cause bad breath and, if so, how could it be cured?

Answer: Acidity of the saliva may come from infection, which, in turn, might give the breath a bad odor. It might also be due to some infection of the salivary glands.

HOLIDAY WEEKEND SUPPER

The honey-and-apple flavor of this hot bread is at its best when the muffins are served hot from the oven.

Clam Chowder
Leftover Turkey Salad
Special Corn Muffins
Tangerines and Grapes—Beverage

Special Corn Muffins

Ingredients: 3-4 cup sifted flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup water-ground yellow cornmeal, 1 egg, 1-4 cup honey, 1-3 cupmilk, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted), 1-2 cup finely diced unpeeled red apple.

Method: Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt; stir in cornmeal. Beat egg until thick and ivory colored; add honey and milk and beat enough to combine. Add flour-cornmeal mixture, melted butter and apple; stir just until dry ingredients are well moistened. Fill greased muffin cups one-half full and bake in hot (400 degrees) oven until lightly browned and cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. If cups in muffin pan are 1-3 cup size, there will be 9 muffins that will need about 15 minutes baking.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

—What was the original purpose of the Library of Congress?

A—As a reference library for the members of Congress. Now, however, the library serves the entire public.

Q—From what part of the sheep does the best wool come?

A—From the shoulders and sides. The wool grows coarser and less desirable farther back and lower down.

Q—What is the correct way for women to salute the flag?

A—By placing the right hand over the heart.

Q—What year has been proposed for the adoption of the World Calendar?

A—The year 1961 has been advocated since the year begins on Sunday and it would give time to prepare for a change.

Q—Why were Egyptain temple walls thicker at the bottom than at the top?

A—Because of the weakness of the clay and sun-dried brick construction.

BRILLIANT TILES

The clay tiles that line the dome of the famous mosque of Sidi Okba, Kairwan, Tunisia, still retain their brilliance though they were installed more than 1,000 years ago.

ITALIAN TIRED OF TAXES SETS UP OWN 'REPUBLIC'

TRICARICO, Italy, Dec. 24—(AP) A sheepherder tired of paying taxes has proclaimed a six-acre "autonomous republic" here in arid, poverty-ridden south Italy. After 24 hours it didn't look as if the new "state" would be long lived.

Notice of its formation was printed in chalk on the walls of Tricarico's little town square yesterday by 59-year-old Michele Mulieri.

The sole inhabitants of the new republic are Mulieri, his wife and five children. He said, however, that anyone else sick and tired of paying taxes to Italy would be welcome.

Mulieri suggested that if Rome wants to have any further dealings with him President Luigi Einaudi should send an official ambassador.

Instead the government sent three policemen. They were directed to keep a watch over the Mulieri farm and see to it that the head of the new republic either stays home or produces a "valid passport"—in the form of a receipt for his due taxes.

Opening lead—♦ Q

By OSWALD JACOBY

On this day of the year even a bridge column should tell a story of generosity rewarded. The story is built around today's hand, which was played in a recent team match.

At both tables the bidding was the same, and in each case West opened the queen of diamonds. Naturally enough, East at each table took the ace of diamonds and returned the jack. At each table South played the king of diamonds at the second trick. And now my story begins.

The first West player ruffed the king of diamonds with the five of hearts. He then shifted to a low spade. Declarer went up with the ace of spades, got to his hand with the ace of clubs, and let a heart towards the dummy. West naturally had to play the ace of hearts, and he then tried to cash the king of spades.

South ruffed, led a high trump to dummy's king, and cashed the king and queen of clubs, discarding a diamond from his hand. He then ruffed a low club in order to discard his last low diamond. Hence this declarer made his game contract, losing only the ace of diamonds, a diamond ruff, and the ace of trumps.

At the second table the West player happened to be Generous George. He studied the king of diamonds at the second trick for some time before playing. He decided that South was bound to have the ace of clubs and that South probably had only a singleton spade. After thinking about this, he announced: "No sense being stingy to such nice people. I'll give them a little present."

Having made this statement, George ruffed the king of diamonds with the ace of hearts. This generous play didn't cost a trump trick, since East later made the queen of hearts. What's more, East thus gained the lead in time to cash the setting trick with the ten of diamonds.

It worked out this way. West led a spade at the third trick, and dummy's ace won. No matter how declarer played the trumps and clubs, East could ruff the third club with the queen of hearts and could then cash the ten of diamonds. The defenders thus got two diamond tricks and two trumps, defeating the contract.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

South	West	North	East
1 Club	Pass	1 Dmd.	Pass

You, South, hold: Spades K-Q-10, Hearts A-J-10, Diamonds Q-J-2, Clubs A-K-J-3. What do you do?

A—Bid three no trump. Even though you have only 21 points in high cards, you have two useful tens and you want to make sure of being in a game no matter how weak your partner may be. As a matter of fact, nobody would blame you for opening the hand with two no - trump to begin with, even though it is technically short 1 point.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades A-Q-10, Hearts A-J-10, Diamonds Q-2, Clubs A-K-J-3-2. What do you do?

Answer Monday

The tiny Dutch colony of St. Eustatius in the West Indies fired the first foreign salute to American sovereignty in 1776.

When you order wallpaper, paint or linoleum for a certain job, get a little more than is absolutely necessary. The extra comes in handy if there is any patching to do of worn spots later on.

Before you repack a radiator valve in a hot water system, be sure to drain enough water out of the boiler so that there isn't any water in the radiator that you are working on. If you don't, the minute you remove the packing nut you will get a flood of water over you and the floor.

When you drive in cut flooring nails, be sure that the flat side of the nail is parallel with the grain of the wood. By the way, the reason that a blunt pointed nail is less likely than a sharp pointed nail to split wood is that a blunt point will break through the wood fibers while a sharp point pushes them aside with a wedging action.

Next time you install hinges on a door, be sure not to make the recess for the hinges too deep. If you do, the edge of the door will be tight against the frame and this will pry the hinge loose as the door is closed. The recess for the hinge should be the same depth as the thickness of the hinge plate.

Window glass comes in different strengths. For most jobs, single strength (S. S.) is adequate but do not use it in any openings larger than 24 x 36 inches. For these larger openings use the double strength glass (D. S.).

TWO GIRLS RESCUED IN COLCHESTER POND

COLCHESTER, Dec. 24 — (AP) Two little girls who came here from California to spend Christmas with their grandfather fell through the ice on a pond here today. An uncle rescued them.

State Trooper Robert Donahue said both were in the water about five minutes before they were pulled out by their uncle, John Savitsky, 43. He had come out of the house and saw them thrashing on top of the water.

Police identified them as Shirley, 5, and Lucille, 4, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mlenar of Van Nuys, Calif., were visiting on the farm of Joseph Savitsky.

Shirley was reported in critical condition at Middlesex hospital in Middletown. Lucille was treated by a doctor at home.

Bridgeport Fan 'Calls Play' for $500

By FRED H. RUSSELL

New Yorkers are not such hot sports fans.

For four weeks in a row Mel Allen's "Call The Play" sports teaser went unanswered until a Bridgeport housepainter ended the drought with two words—and won himself the accumulated $500 in U. S. Savings Bonds.

The two words given Allen's sportscasting cohort, Guy LeBow, were "I'd pass!", and Walter Chernesky, of 1942 Seaview avenue, who has followed sports all of his 49 years won himself a lusher Christmas.

Seen on WCBS-TV at 6:15 p.m., Saturdays "Call The Play," has Allen doing the play by play recaps on film of exciting scenes from professional football, baseball and basketball games.

At a crucial point in the reenactment, the film is stopped and a viewer at home is called by phone to supply what he considers to be the next logical play. If the fan's call coincides with the actual play in the game, he wins a $100 Bond. Until Chernesky's two-word correct call, four fans in the four preceding weeks muffed their chances. The money carries over from week-to-week.

Chernesky's poser was taken from a N. Y. Giants-Cleveland, Browns football game. The Giants trailed, 16-10, with 40 seconds remaining in the game. It was second down, as Allen pointed out to Chernesky, with 10 to go on the Browns' 12-yard line.

The situation, with time running out, called for the Giants to advance the ball and yet to stop the clock after every play. "What would you do?" Chernesky was asked.

Chernesky put himself in quarterback Charley Conerly's cleats and correctly answered: "I'd pass." He indicated to Guy LeBow, who makes the local call for WCBS-TV, that the pass should be near the sidelines so the receiver could step out of bounds and stop the clock, if the play didn't go for a touchdown.

Which was the way it went in the game, and to Chernesky went the $500.

Chernesky and his wife, Anna, have four children. A son, Walter Edward, a fireman, drives the hook and ladder for Bridgeport's Headquarters company.
