A Television Workshop has been established by WRCA-TV and will produce experimental programs in cooperation with various educational institutions, actors' groups, museums and other sources of culture and information. Announcement of the workshop was made by Steve Krantz, program manager of WRCA-TV who said the workshop's first program in a proposed series will be presented on Thursday, May 12, between the hours of 1 and 2 p. m., as a feature of "The Norman Brokenshire Show."

"Ideas and the execution of them in this Television Workshop concept will be contributed by the en tire program staff of WRCA-TV Through this group effort we hope to encourage group planning in program matters and to depart from the established situation of single executive judgment in creative programming devisions. The entire WRCA-TV program department is being used as a board of review to engender and select purposeful and palatable programming for the TV workshop," he

The first program in the Television Workshop series will be "The Analyst," presented in cooperation with the New State Society for gram will present Dr. Lawson G. Lowrey, a psychiatrist affiliated gling efforts to understand and deal with her child. While the case presented by Dr. Lowrey will be an ictual one, the mother will be portrayed by a professional actress. .

Mr. Krantz said the second program will feature Alex Templeton of Greenwich in "Alex Templeton Time," on Wednesday, May 18 and the third program will be "An Actor's Lot," with Stella Adler, the actress, who will conduct a class in (on Thursday, "sense memory" May 26), and the fourth show will "Portrait - Walter White," a television profile presented by Richard Heffner, historian and lecturer.

Practically all phases of art including literature, dance music, painting and science will be subject matter for workshop programs. Projected programs include a television version of the successful WRCA radio "Pulse," a new technique for presenting history, entitled "Past Tense," and a new type of quiz program called "King Bee."

Coincidental with the announcement of the Television Workshop, Mr. Krantz said that several changes will take place on WRCA-TV's afternoon schedule on May 9.

The Norman Brokenshire Show will be seen for one hour beginning at 1 p.m., with five-minutes of news by Kenneth Banghart at 1:30 p.m. "Here's Looking at You," with Richard Willis moves to 2 p.m., with "Jinx's Diary" following for a halfhour at 2:30 p.m. All changes are on a Monday-through-Friday basis.

Video Version 'Gunsmoke," heard twice on Saturdays over CBS radio, is to become a television attraction. Jim Arness, a newcomer, will have the role that William Conrad does on radio. This will be CBS' first entry in the 7:30 to 8 p.m., attack on the inroads by ABC-TV with such programs as "Disneyland," "Lone Ranger" and "Rin

Tin Tin." CBS is projecting that time perlod overhaul in the terms of next fall which will mean the dispossessing of the Monday-through-Friday news and music format that has been a CBS fixture since the beginning, Still to be decided is what will happen to Douglas Edwards, Perry Como, Jo Stafford and Jane Froman. Anyway, you can be sure that CBS-TV is going to get into the swing for the early evening youngster view-

Drama Cycle

A four-week drama cycle will be presented on the Channel 4 religious program, "Frontiers of Faith," under the auspices of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, starting this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The series will open with "Bible Detective in the Hely Land," by Marc Siegel, a true story of Nelson Glueck's discovery of King Solomon's coppe: mines aided by the Bible as a source of geological information.

The second production, May 8, will be "The Second Commandment" by Jumes Ynffee, a "drama quartet" reading that explains the second commandment in terms of everyday modern life. The third. May 15, will be "An American Ballad" by Irve Tunick, a dramatic story based on the crowded career of an eminent Texan, the late Rabbi Henry Cohen of Galveston, The closing bill, May 22, will be "Mrs. Steinberg's Pariner in Heaven" by Sylvia Berger, a drama about two angels with a job to be done on earth and how they decide whether Mrs. Steinberg is worthy of doing the job for thens.
