RUSSIAN GROUP ENDS U. S. TOUR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 — (AP) The Russian housing delegation today closed its cross-country tour with polite appreciation for American building methods, thanks for a "warm welcome everywhere" and a rave notice for the city of Seattle.

I. K. Kozyulya, leader of the 10-man mission of Soviet housing officials, told the National Press club they were "very interested" in the new lift-up slab type of construction and in modern American kitchens — "especially the 'kitchen of the future.'"

Kozyulya rhapsodized, through an interpreter, when asked in a question and answer session which of the 140 cities visited impressed them most, said that it was Seattle.

"The weather was wonderful, there was plenty of greenery. We were taken on a very nice sightseeing tour around lakes and over mountains. We thought a lot about fishing and leisure.

"And that is why, without offense to any other city in the United States, the delegation has come to the conclusion that Seattle was the nicest."

Kozyulya assured his audience that the month-long exchange of ideas and views had been "valuable", and expressed hope American builders would be benefitted equally by a planned tour of the Soviet Union. The invitation has been extended to the Russians' hosts, the National Assn. of Home Builders, and has been accepted.

The delegation will go to New York tomorrow, preparatory to flying home.
