TURNING THE DIALS

BY FRED H. RUSSELL

Joyce Gordon, pretty brunette actress heard as Barbara Miller on CBS radio's "My Son, Jeep," Monday through Friday nights at & c'clock, was precipitated into radio acting before she knew what was happening. One day during her school cays in Chicago, the teacher casually asked each pupil to read portions of a story. Next thing on pled little 13-year-old lovce. Gordon knew, whe was reading scripts at the local board of Education's tulio study s. Throughout high school she worked on fixe Chicago stations, freely giving her time to public service and charity programs. Entering the University of Illinois, she was an active member of the dramatics school for two years and often started in stage presentations and the two years and often started in stage presentations and the
