

The Post Radio Highlights

Between performances of their single day's appearance at the Capitol Theater, Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland squeeze in a brief broadcast—WJSV, 1:45 p. m.

The Hambletonian Stake, high point of the sulky season at Goshen, N. Y., is run in several heats, which are aired in 15-minute periods each. Should a third heat be necessary to decide the winner, Clem McCarthy and George Putnam will describe that one as well—WMAL, 2, 3 and 4 p. m.

Teddy Gross, a 12-year-old youngster who was stricken with infantile paralysis six years ago, but whose pluck and voice brought him to the attention of Rudy Vallee, Ted Lewis and Maj. Bowes, makes a guest appearance in Washington—WJSV, 2:30 p. m.

Baseball game, Washington versus New York—WJSV, 3 p. m.

From the Watergate, Rudolph Ganz leads the National Symphony Orchestra; introduction to Act 3, "Lohengrin" and the Dance of the Apprentices, "Die Meistersinger," Wagner, and "Dance Macabre," Saint-Seans—WMAL, 9 p. m.

Mark Sullivan and Jay Franklin debate further on America's problems—WMAL, 9:30 p. m.