

"Sheriff Buck Benny" Will Be Revived Sunday Night

Ginger Rogers To Co-Star With Fred MacMurray
In "Vivacious Lady;" New Opera
Find On Concert Hour

After a retirement of nearly three years, "Sheriff Buck," Jack Benny's most famous radio characterization, will be revived during the broadcast with Mary Livingstone, Phil Harris, Dennis Day, Don Wilson, and Andy Devine Sunday at 7 p. m. over WEAf.

The new addendum to the ever-popular series of broadcasts about the arm of the law in Rump Steak, Texas, was concocted by way of observing Bill Morrrows' and Ed Be-join's fourth anniversary as Jack's script aids.

Mary Livingstone will resume her familiar role as Buck's girl, Daisy Carson, with Phil Harris as her perennially pickled pappy. Andy Devine, who made his first radio appearance as Jack's ace deputy, will have something of high importance to say about capturing cactus-face Elmer.

Ginger Rogers will co-star with Fred MacMurray for the first time and will return to the Screen Guild theatre by popular demand in "Vivacious Lady," Sunday, over WABC at 7:30 p. m.

Miss Rogers is heard in the role of the chorine who marries a young college professor, MacMurray, against the wishes of his social-climbing parents. In order to hold his teaching position, the professor has to keep his marriage a secret. His wife resents staying in her apartment and she decides to bring her husband to a showdown by causing havoc in his classes. They break and the bride returns to her home town in the city but circumstances bring the story to an unusual conclusion.

Winifred Heidt, mezzo-soprano who is the Metropolitan Opera's newest vocal "find," will make her first appearance as soloist on the Sunday Evening Hour of April 7. The program is to be broadcast over WJR from 9 to 10 p. m.

Miss Heidt will first be heard in "Serenade," a gay love song by Campbell-Tipton. Stult's "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," has been especially arranged for Miss Heidt and the chorus, and as a salute to spring she also will sing "April" by the American composer Homer. "The Silver Ring" by the French writer Chaminade, and a tarantella "Ohio Meneche" by Vittorio Giannini, are her other selections.

One of the year's unique broadcasts will take place April 7 at 8 p. m. on WJZ when Frank Black leads a 35-piece orchestra in a commemorative broadcast from Mrs. Reginald De Koven's music room on Park av, New York City. The entire program will be devoted to the works of De Koven, composer of the first American musical comedy, whose birthday is celebrated April 3. Rose Derman, soprano, and a baritone will be heard on the program.

Ben Bernie, the "Ol' Maestro," too frail to be a blacksmith, took up the less strenuous study of violin. He will exhibit the fruits of his decision when he and "all the lads" board the Bandwagon in New York, Sunday, at 7:30 p. m., over WEAf. After a varied career which included a Carnegie Hall concert at 14, engineering studies at NYU, selling violins in a department store and a vaudeville tour, Bernie organized his own band in 1920, and has since been a reigning favorite. Further details will be extracted from the maestro during the broadcast by Henry M. Neely, M. C.

Softball, a conservative form of baseball now boasting over 15,000,000 fans and players, will have its inning when Lowell Thomas, newscaster, appears as Bill Stein's guest during the "Sports Newsreel of the Air" Sunday, at 9:45 p. m. over WJZ.

The comparatively new game, about which Thomas and Ted Shane have just written a book entitled "Softball, So What?" had its inception somewhere in the Northwest in 1927. Its popularity has spread like wildfire and it has found favor with both sexes. Professional teams supervised by George Sisler, erstwhile manager of the St. Louis Browns, draw larger paid attendance than either the Browns or the Cardinals.

Marvel Maxwell, Perry Como, Elmo Tanner and Country Washburne will be featured in a novelty arrangement of "The Man Who Comes Around" on the "Beat the Band" program Sunday, at 6:30 p. m. over WEAf.

The old United States mint where Bret Harte worked in the '60s, where he wrote many of his best stories "on company time" and hid the manuscripts under his desk blotter when superiors passed by, will be visited by Ted Malone during his Pilgrimage of Poetry program over WJZ at 1 p. m. It was at the mint that Mark Twain told Harte the story of "The Jumping Frog."

Nineteen-year-old Inge Adams, who has been on tour for the past year in "Peter Pan," will have the difficult part of Melisande in Maurice Maeterlinck's "Pelleas and Melisande," the great play to be presented over WJZ Sunday at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney, noted American sculptress, who recently was awarded the highest honor of the National Sculpture society, a medal designed especially for the opening of the Sculpture Festival in New York, will be presented on the "Hour of Charm" on Sunday, as General Electric's thirtieth "Woman of the Week" in the present series. The program will be heard from 10 to 10:30 p. m. over WEAf from coast to coast.

Laughton On State Screen In Hit Role

How the love of a grotesque cripple for a dazzling beauty who pitied him leads him to save her life at the cost of his own is the powerful, dramatic theme of "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," with Charles Laughton in the stellar title role now at the State.

This filmization of the Victor Hugo classic comes as one of the outstanding screen events of the decade, abundant in eye-dazzling splendor and breath-taking scenes. In addition to the 100 stage and screen principals who support Laughton prominently, 3,500 players appear in the spectacle scenes.

The plot deals with the loyalty and sacrifice of a hunchback bell-ringer in the great cathedral of Notre Dame. Here a beautiful gypsy girl takes refuge from a powerful noble who admires but persecutes her.

Because the girl befriended him, the deformed bell-ringer rescues her from an execution for a crime of which the noble is guilty. The gripping climax—wherein a mob storms the great cathedral to rescue the girl, and the noble attempts to carry her off—offers some of the most impressive moments in screen annals.

Maureen O'Hara, a newcomer uncovered by Laughton, depicts the gypsy, while Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Thomas Mitchell, Edmond O'Brien, Alan Marshal, Walter Hampden and Katharine Alexander have other featured roles.

DELPHOS MAN IS INJURED WHEN STRUCK BY TRAIN

James Dillon, 57, janitor at the Capitol theatre, Delphos, was in a fairly good condition in St. Rita's hospital Saturday evening with scalp lacerations and possible internal injuries sustained when he was struck by a Nickel Plate freight train in that city at 6 p. m.

Delphos authorities stated that Dillon, who was enroute to work, was struck while he was walking along the tracks between Bredeichav and Clay-st. He was removed to the hospital in a Paul Harter ambulance.

As the result of two-car collision at Spring and McDonel-sts early Saturday afternoon, one driver was arrested on a charge of running past a stop sign.

Arrested was Clayton Webb, 45, of 613 Ontario-st. Police charged that the car of Webb and one driven by Ray Houser, 28, of 206 S. West-st, were involved in the collision.

SNAKES SHED SKINS

The scaly surface of snakes is covered with a thin layer of skin that is shed regularly, if the reptile is in good condition. The eye sheds its covering along with all the rest, and the entire length of shed skin is turned wrong-side-out as the snake slips out.
