

Today's Radio Highlights

1:30 p. m., WMAL—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg speaks on "The Republican Challenge."

6:30 p. m., WJSV—No matter how you place an egg in boiling water, the yolk is always at the center when it's done. Vox Pop investigates this phenomenon at the Society of Amateur Chefs,

8:30, WOL—Local Finals of the Carrie Carter Contest.

9, WMAL—Back in Civil War days there was an American fifth column which came close to splitting the Union side and assuring a Confederate victory. In "The Great Northwest Conspiracy" Wallace West has written an hour's drama based on this Trojan horse technique.

9, WRC—Jarmila Novotna, Czech soprano of the Metropolitan opera, and Brian Aherne, whose latest is "My Son, My Son!" appear with Bing Crosby.

9:15, WJSV—Senator Robert A. Taft addresses the Ohio State Medieval Association.

9:30, WOL—A portion of Sigmund Romberg's operetta of old Heidelberg. "The Student Prince" is aired from Chicago with Marion Claire, Jane Peerce and Igor Gorin in the leading roles.

10, WOL—Walter Compton has some new questions for Capitol Theater audiences participating in his Double or Nothing quiz weekly.