

Bob Hope Returns to Air Tonight; FDR to Broadcast Wednesday

Most radio stars have a difficult time keeping their weight down but Bonnie King, pictured here, is one of the few trying to add poundage. The young vocalist of the Bob Crosby Dixieland programs, on NBC Thursday nights, now tips the scale at 105 and wants to put on ten more pounds, especially for the cameras. Bonnie makes a picture soon with the orchestra. She's five-feet-four inches in height.
