

Eddie Cantor Celebrating Ninth Anniversary On Air

"Big Town" Returns Wednesday With Robinson Again In Role Of Editor; Cartoonist Will Do Guest Show

Eddie Cantor will pass in review before Eddie Cantor in the comedian's ninth anniversary celebration of the start of his serial antics on "Time To Smile" over WEAJ Wednesday at 9 p. m.

Dinah Shore; Rea and Davis, Eddie's female funster finds; Harry von Zell and Bobby Sherwood's orchestra will help the banjo-eyed comic along with his celebration. Dinah, for one, has announced her intention of singing Jimmy McHugh's new number, "You've Got Me This Way."

"Big Town," the show starring Edward G. Robinson, will open its fourth consecutive WABC season on Wednesday, with "We Americans" as the initial dramatic production. "Big Town" will again deal with the exciting adventures of "Steve Wilson," managing editor of the mythical Illustrated Press, with Robinson portraying this character. Ona Munson will once more appear opposite Robinson as "Lorelei Kilbourne," his star reporter.

A football game almost cost the life of an innocent person 1,000 miles away from the stadium. That's what "Mr. District Attorney" faces in "The Case of the Frightened Coach" on his program of Wednesday, at 9:30 p. m., on WEAJ. This program immediately follows the Eddie Cantor comedy program.

Jerry Siegel, creator of Superman, the fella' who flies in the air, walks under and over water, bounces bullets off his skull and catches cannonballs in his mitt, will be the person you don't expect to meet on the Fred Allen Star Theatre program Wednesday at 9 p. m. over WABC. Kenny Baker will sing "Ma Lindy Lou" with Al Goodman's band and the Hugh Martin chorus. Portland Hoffa and the Mighty Allen Art Players will also be around for the fun. Goodman's feature number will be "Begin the Beguine."

Kay Kyser is still up there pitching. He will play "Who's Yehood?" and "Blueberry Hill," for his "College of Musical Knowledge" program over WEAJ Wednesday. The other recording embraces "Ferry-Boat Serenade" and "Call of the Canyon."

Barbara Terrill, a pretty young radio actress whose vocal talents till now have hindered rather than helped her in her dramatic ambitions, will have her first starring assignment in Frank Dolan's newspaper drama on "Manhattan At Midnight" over WJZ Wednesday at 8:30 p. m.
