

Story Of Anton Dvorak On "Family Hour" Broadcast

Gladys Swarthout, Deems Taylor And Al Goodman's Orchestra Starred; Spitalny's All-Girl Orchestra Features Co-Ed

The story of Anton Dvorak, bleak-eyed Bohemian country boy who loved life and nature and composed music accordingly, will be dramatized, and his stirring "New World Symphony" will be played in part on The Family Hour, starring Gladys Swarthout, Deems Taylor and Al Goodman's orchestra, Sunday at 5 p. m. over WABC.

First of the girls from state universities and colleges who will audition for fame and fortune by singing with Phil Spitalny's all-girl orchestra on "The Hour of Charm" will be Phyllis Wilcox, 19-year-old sophomore from Indianapolis, Ind. She will be heard on the program Sunday, over WJAF at 10 p. m. "An Assignment With Murder" will be the first of the Shadow thrillers to be presented on The Shadow program Sunday at 1:30 p. m., over WJR. An inventor friend of LaMont Cranston has a nervous breakdown and is removed to a sanatorium. The inventor, bothered by recurrent murderous dreams in which he is the murderer, finds himself accused of the actual murders previously dreamed but does not remember committing. He stands accused, when The Shadow intervenes and brings the real murderers to justice.

On the eve of another crucial World Series, Bill Stern will have one of the most colorful figures in baseball in the person of Jimmy Wilson as his guest on the "Sports Newsreel of the Air" to be heard over WJZ Sunday at 9:45 p. m.

Claude Rains, who just finished a featured role in the movie, "King's Row," comes to radio as the star of the "Inner Sanctum Mystery" program Sunday over WJZ at 8 p. m. His vehicle is a real thriller called "The Haunting Face" and he portrays a criminal lawyer whose hobby is drawing pictures of his clients. This hobby eventually results in his being unmasked as a criminal himself. Raymond Edward Johnson serves as host-narrator and Lew White supplies background music on the organ.

Almost anything may happen when diminutive pig-tailed tomboy Virginia Weidler of the films drops in on the show Sunday at 8:00 p. m. over WJAF to keep a date with Bergen's silk-topped youngster Charlie McCarthy.

Captain Flagg and Sergeant Quirt, the unforgettable exemplars of the American soldier, portrayed as usual by Edmund Lowe and Victor McLaglen, will make their radio debut over WJZ on Sunday, at 7:30 p. m., in a new weekly series of half-hour dramas about life and love in the United States Marine Corps.
