

Baby Snooks Expected Back For Thursday Night Program

Florence George, Bing Crosby's Sister-In-Law, Set
For Appearance; Henry Aldrich To Tell
How To Make Headlines

Rumor has it that Baby Snooks is tired of playing hide and seek, and one may safely predict that the allegedly "missing" little scamp will be apprehended in time for Fanny Brice's alter ego to join Frank Morgan, John Conte, Meredith Willson and Hanley (Daddy) Stafford Thursday at 8 p. m. over WEAF.

Even tho Bing Crosby won't be back on the Music Hall till the end of the month, a member of the Crosby clan will bring tidings of him when the program is aired Thursday, at 9:00 p. m., WEAF.

She is Florence George, his sister-in-law, an opera singer and movie star, who often before has appeared in the hall. Other guests will be two of movieland's most popular luminaries, Melvyn Douglas and Jackie Cooper.

Henry Aldrich's head makes headlines and wins him a very important bet when he plays a triple-header engagement with the barber in "The Aldrich Family" over WEAF Thursday, at 8:30 p. m.

Elected social committee chairman, young Aldrich makes a bet that his picture will appear in the paper. Great is his embarrassment when he learns that it will not appear, especially since he has promised to autograph it for his girl.
