

"The March Of Time" Will Return To The Air Thursday

News Reporting Program Back After Two Years Absence; Doug Fairbanks Will Be On Music Hall Hour

"The March of Time" is coming back to the air. The program that brought a sensationally new kind of news reporting to radio 10 years ago returns, after a two-year absence, to WJZ on Thursday at 8 p. m.

Back in Hollywood after spending considerable time as a special good will ambassador to South America, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., makes his second nation-wide airing in two weeks when he joins the Music Hall on Thursday at 9 p. m. over WEAJ.

His appearance at this time should be especially interesting to followers of the Hall because its own regular maestro, Bing Crosby, is expected back momentarily from a similar trip among our southern neighbors.

The Centerville high football team scouts around for a manager to manage its manager when Manager Henry Aldrich loses the key to the uniform trunk and almost causes the players to work in the raw in "The Aldrich Family" over WEAJ Thursday at 8:30 p. m.

The lower East Side twang of "Andre," Frank Morgan's continental (?) butler, may be recognized as the voice of "Schlepperman," once a celebrated Jack Benny stooge, when August Sam Hearn joins Fanny (Baby Snooks) Brice, Meredith Willson, and Frank Morgan again on WEAJ's Coffee Time broadcast, Thursday at 8 p. m.

FIRST BORN

The first seven presidents of the United States were born before the Declaration of Independence. Martin Van Buren, who was born Dec. 5, 1782, was the first American-born president.
