

Joan Bennett Will Be Star Of Cavalcade Hour Monday

"So Red The Rose" Is Vehicle For Lovely Film
Star; Ann Sothern Will Return To Radio
Theatre

Joan Bennett will star in "So Red the Rose," a radio play adapted from Stark Young's best-selling novel of the same name on "Cavalcade of America" Monday.

Cast as Julia Valette Somerville, the adopted daughter of an aristocratic Mississippi plantation owner, Joan Bennett will play the role of an excitable young girl who welcomed the early days of the Civil war as a setting for her own pleasure.

Ann Sothern returns to Cecil E. DeMille's Radio theatre—this time in the guise of blonde and wisecracking Maisie in an adaptation of the film "Maisie Was a Lady" Monday at 9 p. m. over WABC. Lew Ayres and Maureen O'Sullivan, who co-starred in the movie and Henry Stephenson complete the supporting cast.

A seldom-sung aria from Lalo's opera, "Le Roi D'Ys," will be Richard Crooks' featured solo on the "Voice of Firestone" concert, Monday at 8:30 p. m. over WEAJ. The American tenor also will sing "Vienna, City of My Dreams" by Siczynski and Toselli's "Serenade."

When Joey Brewster half hears a remark by his father, the neighbors suddenly, and quite mistakenly, start celebrating the family's departure for New York during "That Brewster Boy," Monday, at 9:30 p. m., over WEAJ. But as matters turn out, the red fite of a phony leave taking actually turns out to be a sky rocket celebrating the arrival of a new family in the town.
