

Gang Moves WMAQ Tonight

After five years on the Columbia network, Al Pearce and his gang will move to a National Broadcasting Co. hookup tonight. Some sections of the country will hear the show at 6:30, others at 9, but hereabouts it will come on the air at 10:30, with WMAQ as the outlet.

Tonight, Pearce will pay tribute to radio's "stooges," important but rarely publicized performers. Besides the stooges, the program will have Pearce's "Elmer Blurt" characterization, Margaret Lenhart, singer, Lou Bring's orchestra, Artie Auerbach, and others.
