

Astrid Varnay Sings Saturday

'Die Walkuere' Broadcast at 1

Astrid Varnay, whom the public "discovered" when she sang an unrehearsed performance of "Die Walkuere," will sing the role of Elsa in "Lohengrin" in the Metropolitan Opera co.'s broadcast over WIEA at 1 p. m. Saturday.

Lauritz Melchior will play the title role, with Julius Huchn, Kerstin Thorberg, Norman Cordon, and Leonard Warren in supporting parts.

Other Saturday features:

Music

3 p. m.—Matinee at Meadowbrook (WBBM): Gene Krupa, Jimmy Dorsey, Alvino Rey, others at birthday party.

4 p. m.—Cleveland Orchestra (WBBM): Dvorak's "Carnival" overture, "Second Slavonic Dance," and "New World" symphony.

Discussion

1:30 p. m.—Women's National Republican Club (WBBM): Wendell L. Wilkie and Gov. D. P. Griswold of Nebraska.

Drama

10 a. m.—Lincoln Highway (WMAQ): with Jane Cowl.

11 a. m.—Theater of Today (WBBM): with Glenda Farrell.

11:30 a. m.—Stars Over Hollywood (WBBM): with Gale Storm.

4 p. m.—Doctors at Work (WENR): accident in a war-industry plant.