

March Field Will Be Next Stop For Bob Hope Program

U. S. Army Air Corps Base To Be Locale For Broadcast Tuesday; Two Members Of Cabinet Set On Navy Show

March Field, big U. S. Army Corps base will be next stop in Bob Hope's "See Southern California First" tour Hope will take his cast to the field Tuesday at 10 p. m. over WEAF.

Home is about the only place Hope hasn't been in the past week. Last Tuesday he did his broadcast from the U. S. Naval Training Station at San Diego with a side jaunt to the Consolidated Aircraft plant there. He returned to Hollywood to pick up his mail, then set out again to play in Bing Crosby's golf tournament at Rancho Santa Fe. Back home again for the Sunday night preview of his broadcast, Hope sandwiched in one day of rest before his March Field jaunt.

What the Secretary of the Navy said to the Secretary of the Treasury will be revealed when those two cabinet members appear in person on the new "Meet Your Navy" program, Tuesday, at 8:30 p. m. over WJZ.

It has been hinted, however, that Secretary Knox will say something very complimentary about the Navy, and present Secretary Morgenthau with a check of gigantic financial proportions, representing the contributions of Navy personnel for defense bonds. The two cabinet members will speak from Washington.

The remainder of the show, originating at Great Lakes Naval Training Station near Chicago, will feature music by commissioned and enlisted personnel of the Navy.

Xavier Cugat introduces his own latest number "Nightingale" on his "Rumba Revue" program over WJZ Tuesday, at 8 p. m. Also on this broadcast, Cugat will revive a tune which, introduced by him some years ago, swept to instant popularity. Title: "Peanut Vendor Song." A rumba version of Brahms "Lullaby" and another Cugat number "The Thrill of an Old Romance" complete the orchestral highlights. Margo, featured vocalist, will be heard in her own Latin-American version of the popular "Week-end in Havana" and Carmen Castilla will sing the beautiful "Amor Amor Amor." Afro-Cuban singer Miguelito Valdes will do two numbers "Benabe" and "Tabu," both of them weird jungle melodies. Bert Parks, singing master of ceremonies, and the Cugat also will be featured.

Your Federal Income Tax

No. 21

GROSS INCOME, NET INCOME, AND SURTAX NET INCOME

In computing a Federal income tax, the taxpayer is confronted with the problem of ascertaining, (1) his gross income and, unless the tax is computed under the optional simplified method, (2) his net income, and (3) his surtax net income. The instructions which accompany the forms clearly and explicitly set out how this is done. If, after reading them carefully, the taxpayer does not understand them, he should consult the nearest collector, or deputy collector, of internal revenue.

Gross income, generally, is all income derived in any taxable year from any source whatever, unless specifically exempt by law. In any usual business, the gross income of the person operating it consists of the gross profits on sales, plus any income from investments and incidental or outside operations or sources. The income-tax return must show gross sales, purchases, and the cost of the goods sold, and the inventories at the beginning and end of each taxable year.

In the case of professional men—a lawyer, a physician, an architect, a surgeon, a dentist, a clergyman, a writer, or any other—there must be included in the gross income all fees, salaries and compensation of any kind received for professional services.

Net income is the gross income less the deductions allowed by law. The long-continued and varying experience of the Bureau of Internal Revenue shows that numerous errors are made by taxpayers in their income-tax returns due to their failure to understand clearly what deductions from gross income and what credits against net income are allowable. The tax-
