

e Begins Brewster Boy Sherman Move

Shirley Temple will begin a new radio series tonight, taking over half the time formerly occupied by Fred Allen. The other half will be given to Ransom Sherman, whose show moves from a Friday night spot. Allen's program will be on the air Sundays in the time relinquished by the Sunday Evening hour.

This will be Shirley's second radio series. The first was a brief pre-Christmas affair in which she shared honors with adult guest stars. Now she'll be in "Junior Miss," based on the Sally Benson stories, book, and Broadway play, to be broadcast at 8 over WBBM.

Sherman will be on the same station at 8:30.

Another shift will put That Brewster Boy on WBBM at 6:30; it used to be on WMAQ.

The Madison Recreation band will give a demonstration concert over WIBA at 8 tonight. Director Leroy Klose and several band members will be interviewed by Jim Terzian during the program.
