With two Irish singers and a complete selection of Ould Sod tunes all set for presentation on Saturday at 9 p. m. over WEA, the "National Barn Dance" will celebrate St. Patrick's Day three days earlier than the balance of the nation. First of the guests will be Billy Murray, who is believed to have the largest record audience ever. The second is Bill O'Connor, who has been heard by radio audiences for years as "The Smiling Irish Tenor."

Kay Kyser, corny professor of "College of Musical Knowledge," is Bill Stern's guest on "Sports Newsreel of the Air," Saturday at 10 p. m. over WEA. Stern and Kyser will be heard from NBC's Charles J. Leach, of Roselle Park, N. J., an octogenarian who collects and sings ancient, amusing songs — particularly those of Gaelic strain — will be a guest star on Dave Elman's "Hobby Lobby" program, Saturday at 8:30 p. m.

Among the other hobbyists will be Lillynn Stewart, of Waycross, Ga., whose hobby is studying tools; Louise Marie D'Esternaux, of Brooklyn, who collects fans as a hobby and Raymond C. Schindler, of New York City, who spends his spare time helping underprivileged boys make good.
