LYRIC

Barbara Stanwyck and Henry Fonda, the comedy combination which made "The Lady Eve" one of the most rib-tickling love-and-laugh romps of the season, continue their romantic antics in "You Belong to Me," which opens Tuesday at the Lyric theatre. A Wesley Ruggles production, based upon a screen play by Claude Binyon, "You Belong to Me" is said to belong high up in the list of such other up-roarious comedies as "The Awful Truth," "Here Comes Mr. Jordan," "You Can't Take It With You" and "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town."

"You Belong to Me" is the story of a bride who wouldn't stay for breakfast, and of a husband who agrees that all the world loves a lover, but why should all the world love his wife? Miss Stanwyck is seen as a woman doctor with too many patients—all of them handsome young men. Mr. Fonda appears as her love-crazy playboy husband who felt he had a right to get angry when he saw every man in town saying "ah" to his bride!

A case of love at first sight, "You Belong to Me" has been praised for its swift, delightful action, its rapid-fire dialogue and its incredibly hilarious situations. Those grand stars of "The Lady Eve," in their repeat performance as a team, are said to prove their right to a place in the very forefront of the riotously wacky.

Others in the cast include Edgar Buchanan, Roger Clark, Ruth Donnelly and Melville Cooper. Clark, a handsome newcomer to the screen, is said to be a certain bet for stardom; the others are well-known character comedy players.

QUILNA
The smashing story of the U. S. Marine Corps and what it takes to turn out a fighting "leatherneck" has been brilliantly brought to the screen in Technicolor epic, "To the Shores of Tripoli," which is now at the Quilna theatre.

The production is made to order for every patriotic American, and is a credit to those men who fought their way to glorious posterity at Wake Island.

There is nothing more heroically traditional than the spirit of the Marines, and "To the Shores of Tripoli" shows us what makes them that way. Most of the action

WHAT DID THE COP SAY TO ESCAPING PRISONER?

Here's Week's Silliest Question . . . But It is Topped By Silliest Reply, Your Screwy Reporter Says

By GLADWIN HILL
HOLLYWOOD, April 20 — (Wide World)—The ghost of Joe Miller, granddaddy of gags, stalked thru the dizzy doings this week.
From Washington came (again) the story of the man who had to wait so long in an army official's anteroom that before he got inside the man had been promoted from a captain to a major . . . And in Los Angeles, they swore, a motorist stopped for speeding blurted out in explanation, "My baby is about to have a wife!" . . .

And in East Orange, N. J., the patient cop once more left on the alibiing parker's car the note: "Monday you had a flat tire. Tuesday night the car broke down. Wednesday night you didn't feel well. Thursday night I might get mad!" . . .
Oh boy . . .

The silliest question of the week came from New York. A cop, confining a fleeing prisoner, demanded: "Where were you going?" . . . Silliest answer of the week: . . . The prisoner's: "To see my lawyer!" . . .

In Burke, Va., an air raid warden sounded an effective test alarm by blowing on a horn, banging a big saw, shooting off a shotgun (modern design!) . . . and a Huntington, Ind., man got a slightly belated invitation to a Halloween party — Halloween, 1922 . . .

Two sailors meeting for the first time in five years in Buffalo, N. Y., shook hands so heartily that one of them had to go to the hospital . . . and a Nashville, Tenn., man was arrested for running thru a red light — in a horse and wagon . . .

Understatement of the week: A Denver man, after being buried under several tons of gravel in a 15-foot hole, commented: "It was kinda stuffy down there!" . . .

A California man enlisted in the Navy — after hitch-hiking to Boston . . . and the Princeton, Ill., rationing director had to resign because he couldn't get any tires for his car . . .

The government put priorities on flea powder . . . The Pekin, Ill., high school beat East Peoria 112-1 in a track meet (What makes Sammy walk?) . . . A Kansas City man, told by his doctor not to exert himself, started taking a bus to his office — one block away . . .

And an Indianapolis woman (everybody discovered too late) inadvertently baked a cake using liquid floor wax instead of milk . . .
Oh, Sam! . . .
