

Congressman Bender To Be Heard On Friday Broadcast

Ohio Solon Will Discuss "When Will The War End?" During Program Scheduled At 11:15 P. M. Via WEAF

If there is one question uppermost in everyone's mind today it is "When will the war end?" That is the topic Congressman George H. Bender, Republican from Ohio, will discuss Friday at 11:15 p. m. over WEAF.

"Victory in 1943" is his topic.

Out of the earphones: Edna May Oliver, elongated dramatic comedienne, has at last added radio to her regular acting chores—she's starred in "Josephine Tuttle."

A success today, yesterday and years before yesterday, her career nevertheless closely resembles the rocky road to Dublin. Her fight to stardom has been hard, bitter, filled with patience and much sacrifice, but Edna May never lowered her sights on that one objective — to be an actress and a successful one.

She was on the stage for thirty munition. She was reduced to hiding in her room to avoid facing the landlord whom she owed eighty dollars.

As a girl in Boston, her birthplace, she sang in the Oliver Street Humanitarian Church. Later she toured New England with an open air opera company. She planned to study in Italy under the masters. Edna May was a singer — an exceptionally fine one. Her objective was the Metropolitan.

Off-Mike Stuff: He's tall, dark and handsome, blue eyed and has brown hair and likes the movies. He tried to be a newspaperman once, likes to drive a car and follows football closely. The gent is Frank Sinatra, Tommy Dorsey's first man of song on his new summer series!

A program from Quito, Ecuador, arranged by Clarence Jones and his wife, the former Catherine Welty, will be heard via NBC at 4:30 p. m. (EWT) on Saturday. They are inter-denominational missionaries and have been in Ecuador a number of years.

years before she received what is commonly known as "big money."

She has acted for twelve dollars a week.

Once shunted from her beloved theatre, she worked in a dress-making and then a millinery shop for three dollars a week. It took her four years to save forty dollars with which to attack New York. But that wasn't much am-

Trumpeter Ziggy Elman, of the Tommy Dorsey series, can play—or so it is said—every instrument in the band. Composer of several songs, he agrees the best was "And the Angels Sing." Ziggy, who has labored under the nickname since childhood because he counted himself an authority on women (Ziegfeld, get it?), counts as the two big thrills of his life an appearance at Carnegie Hall, musical heaven of the long-hair division, and another with Maestro Stokowski in the Hollywood Bowl.
