

"True Or False" Program To Be Continued Thru Summer

"Search For Freedom" Will Be Premiere Broadcast Of Inter-American University Of The Air

Dr. Harry Hagen bade his listeners farewell for the summer on his "True or False" program from Bolling Field, Washington, D. C. last Monday night.

The following day, however, his sponsor asked him to cancel his vacation and stay on the air thruout the summer months.

Effective Monday night, the program will be heard on 53 stations of the Blue network at 8:30 p. m. (EWT). The broadcast originates this week in New York. "The Search For Freedom," a drama-packed cavalcade of man's struggle for liberty, has been selected as the premiere broadcast of the NBC Inter-American "University of the Air," Monday at 10:30 p. m., EWT, on the NBC-Red network.

Based on the Atlantic charter, "The Search For Freedom" is the first of 15 consecutive broadcasts in a series titled, "Lands of the Free," the summer series of the radio university.

Alfred Lunt, rarely heard in radio and as rarely appearing without his wife, Lynn Fontaine, makes his first sponsored broadcast on "Cavalcade of America" Monday as Alexander Hamilton in "The Gentleman from the Islands," (NBC-Red, 8 p. m. EWT.) Miss Fontaine's own first sponsored broadcast was on "Cavalcade" last May 4, as Anne Royall, first Washington newspaper woman, in "The Printer Was a Lady."

It was not until July, 1940, that "Is my business urgent? Why, it's a matter of life and death!"

the stage's most famous couple was heard on the air, and then for a Red Cross benefit. They did an excerpt from the Robert Sherwood play, "There Shall Be No Night."

Ethel Bartlett and Rae Robertson, the internationally famed two-piano team, are to be guests on the "Telephone Hour" series, Monday instead of the following week for which they were originally slated. The appearance of Helen Traubel, Metropolitan Opera soprano, scheduled for the earlier date, has been postponed by her illness.

The famed keyboard duo, who are Mr. and Mrs. Robertson in private life, will be heard in the Rondo from Mozart's Concerto in E Flat Major, supported by the orchestra; Liszt's "Liebestraum," and "Dance Brazilian" from Milhaud's "Secaramouche." Donald Voorhees is to lead the Bell Symphonic orchestra in the processional march from "Queen of Sheba" by Gounod and the waltz from Delibes' "Naila."
