

Sanguinary Saga Is Eerie "Inner Sanctum Mystery"

Man Executed For Crime He Didn't Commit Returns To Wreak Ironic Vengeance Over Network Sunday

"Design for Dying", sanguinary saga of a man executed for a crime he didn't commit and returns to wreak ironic revenge on his betrayers, is the eerie "Inner Sanctum Mystery" tale to be heard Sunday, at 8:30 p. m. EWT, over the Blue Network.

Written by Sigmund Miller and starring Anna Seymour and Santos Ortega, the story is that of a man framed for murder. Despite a plea of innocence he is convicted and put to death. He's not one to take such treatment lying down, however, and returns from the grave to exact justice.

Revenge is sweet and complete. He turns a simple mistake on his betrayers' parts into as tight and fool-proof a case against them as theirs was for him.

Produced by H. Brown, "Host" Raymond Edward Johnson will be heard as narrator.

Mrs. David Sarnoff, wife of the president of RCA, and five other members of the American Red Cross Nurses Aid corps, will make a guest appearance on the "Army-Navy Game" broadcast over the Blue Network Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

With Mrs. Sarnoff as spokesman, the uniformed ladies will tell briefly of their work and join in singing a new song dedicated to their corps. Lyrics for the song, based on an old favorite, were written especially for them by Allen Funt, producer of the series.

More than three hundred soldiers and sailors will vie for the glory of their respective services in battles of wits, song and histrionics.

of ceremonies and Joe Rines conducts the music.

John Freedom will return to France, during the "Alias John Freedom" program, Monday, and will work with underground organizations to prepare the way for the famous Allied Commando raid on Dieppe.

The drama, to be heard at 10:15 p. m., EWT, over the Blue Network, will tell the story of Annette, leader in the French underground movement. Serving her people by befriending a Nazi Oberleutnant, Annette will succeed, thru her friendship, in trapping a number of German officers who might have turned the raid into failure.

By her disguised loyalty she is exposed to the hate and contempt of fellow countrymen who, ignorant of her underground connection, force her to sacrifice herself rather than betray the secrets of her fellow patriots.

Lionel Barrymore debuts Sunday in the 7-7:30 p. m. period on NBC for soap sponsor in new series titled "Mayor of Our Town."
