

Woman Letter Collector Featured On Hobby Lobby

Two Blind Men To Demonstrate Fencing Ability On Program; Metropolitan Opera Per- formance To Be Saturday

A woman whose hobby is collecting letters—secret messages smuggled out of Nazi controlled Europe via the underground, will be Dave Elman's guest in Hobby Lobby Dec.
19 over WABC at 8:30 p. m. Other guests will include a 6-foot girl who organized a club for tall girls; two blind men who will demonstrate their remarkable hobby of fencing; and many other unusual and interesting hobbyists.

Metropolitan Opera performance to be broadcast over WJZ on Dec.
19, at 2 p. m., will be Wagner's "Tannhauser." George Szell will direct.

The title of the Ellery Queen mystery drama for Dec. 19 (WEAF, 7:30 p. m.), will be "The Adventure of the Yellow Ledger" instead of "Ellery Queen's Greatest Case," as previously announced. The plot remains the same.

Nelson Olmsted uses the dialect of a Negro preacher in the story, "How Come Christmas?" by Roark Bradford, on the "World's Greatest Stories" program Dec. 19 (WEAF, 11:15 p. m.)

"The Man of Good Will," Dr.
Edgar J. Helms of Boston, will be honored by the Little Blue Playhouse when it presents a dramatization of his life on WJZ Dec.
19, at 11:30 a. m.

Founder of the Good Will Industries in 1904, Dr. Helms was instrumental in training thousands of Americans in useful trades, in getting work for the unemployed, and in assisting the handicapped by teaching them profitable occupations.
