

Networks Will Feature Roosevelt On Saturday

Programs Will Center Around Theme Of President's Birthday And Infantile Paralysis

President Roosevelt will be heard on the "America Salutes the President" program Saturday, 11:15 p. m. to 12:15 a. m. This program will be heard on WEAF, WABC, WOR and WJZ. Additional talent on the program will be: Frank Sinatra, singing Cole Porter's "Night and Day," and Bob Hope doing a comedy routine.

America will salute Pres. Roosevelt on his birthday with an hour-long radio program in which all four major networks will participate. With pickups from various parts of the country and the Hawaiian Islands, the broadcast will be heard Saturday, WEAF, 11:15 p. m.

From the President's Birthday Ball at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York, Clifton Fadiman, of "Information Please," as master of ceremonies, will open the program, introducing "Four Freedoms," a dramatic montage written and produced by Norman Corwin; Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, who will speak, and Sammy Kaye and his orchestra, who will play "Happy Birthday, Mr. President."

Better care in safeguarding the health of livestock will be discussed during the National Farm and Home Hour, Saturday, at 12:30 p. m., over WJZ during a broadcast under the auspices of the American Veterinary Medical Assn.

American doughboys, based on members of the British Isles

"I'd Do It Again" as openers, Dick Powell and Matty Malneck's orchestra get together for another "Campana Serenade" Saturday, WEAF, 10:15 p. m.

Schubert's masterwork, "Symphony No. 7, in C Major," will be played by the Boston Symphony orchestra on Saturday, at 8:15 p. m., over WJZ.

Pres. Franklin D. Roosevelt's unceasing fight against the dread paralysis which afflicted him while a young man will be dramatized during the Little Blue Playhouse program, Saturday at 11:30 a. m., over WJZ.

Ellery Queen is summoned to Washington to investigate the most important case of his career, in "The Adventure of Tom, Dick and Harry" on Saturday WEAF, 7:30 p. m.

Three women taxi drivers vie for honors with a trio of male bus drivers, on the Frank Crumit-Julia Sanderson quiz over WABC on Saturday at 8 p. m.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 30

Eastern War Time P.M.—Subtract One Hour for C.W.T., 2 Hrs. for M.W.T.