Charlie McCarthy To Give Lowdown On Political Developments In Washington After Visit With President

A scene from Broadway's newest play, "The Patriots," and the personalized story by Col. LeRoy P. Hunt, who led the U. S. Marines in the opening attack on Guadalcanal, Aug. 7 last, will highlight the "We, the People" program on Sunday at 7:30 p. m. over WABC.

Charlie McCarthy has promised to give his audience the real lowdown on political developments in war-time Washington Sunday at 8 p. m. over WEAJ. Roosevelt's birthday ball Jan. 30, and their portion of the show will be culled from the nation's capital.

"What Should Be Done With Conquered Germany?" will be discussed on the "Wake Up, America" program over WJZ on Sunday at 3:15 p. m. The program will be a salute to the Young Men's Christian-assn, members to attend the broadcast.

Jack Benny and his troupe will travel down to the U. S. Marine barracks at Quantico, Va., for their broadcast Sunday over WEAJ at 7 p. m. Benny is touring the Eastern seaboard to entertain men at service bases.

Gladys Swarthout will slug a melody from Franz Lehár's "The Merry Widow" and Bizet's "Ouvre Ton Coeur" from the opera "Carmen," on the Sunday "Family Hour" program with Decar-Taylor and Al Goodman's orchestra over WABC, 5-5-45 p. m.

Col. Lemuel Q. Stoopnagle, the madman's Edison, whose inventions include the strawberry longcake, for people who find shortcake insufficient, will introduce a new pair of "Stooparoots," on his comedy quiz on Sunday at 1:45 p. m., over WABC.
