

Claudette Colbert To Teach Song To Charlie McCarthy

"Family Hour" Program Salutes To U. S. Armed Guard In Sunday Broadcast

This is something like carrying coals to Newcastle. Claudette Colbert is going to teach Charlie McCarthy the song "Ooh La La" on the program Sunday over WEAF at 8 p. m. (EWT). Despite the fact that there isn't much Charlie doesn't already know about Ooh La La.

This Sunday's "Family Hour" dramatization salutes the U. S. Armed Guard — those men who have selected the dangerous assignment of manning the guns which protect our tankers, transports and cargo vessels all over the world. (WABC, 5 p. m., EWT). Gladys Swarthout highlights the musical portion of the program by singing Delibes' "Filles de Cadix" and the American folk song, "Black is My True Love's Hair."

Mothers Day in modern Berlin, where death and destruction are the rewards of motherhood, will be given its true evaluation on "Free World Theatre," Sunday, at 6:30 p. m., EWT, over WJZ.

Herbert Marshall, distinguished British acting star, will be heard as the commander of a British destroyer, suddenly handed an unusual assignment, when he plays the leading role in "Cargo of Innocence" on the "Radio Reader's Digest" on Sunday at 9 p. m., EWT, over Station WABC. Laughter, tears and tradition of the British Navy mingle to make this a story of unusual dramatic impact.
