On "Salute To Youth"

Jack Hawley, a migratory printer, will be brought to the radio courtroom charged with the murder of Edgar Thomas, small town newspaper publisher, during "Famous Jury Trials" Tuesday, at 9:00 p. m., EWT, over WJZ.

When the publisher was found murdered among the smoking ruins of his newspaper plant, Hawley was arrested because of a quarrel he had with Thomas over the latter's daughter. A big-time politician, an ambitious young lawyer, and a beautiful girl will keep the courtroom lively with their dramatic testimony until a surprising climax reveals the proper verdict for the jury.

Lt. Com. Dorothy Stratton, director of the Woman's Reserve of the U. S. Coast Guard, in which more than 3,000 women are enlisted, will be military guest star on "Salute to Youth" Tuesday (WEAF, 7:30 p. m., EWT).
